In Quest of the Blue

ALL AMERICAN DAIRY SHOW

At All-American

HARRISBURG — It was a big week in the show ring.

Six dairy breeds paraded through the Big Arena of the Farm Show Complex, along with a host of 4-H and FFA'ers — not only in showing but in judging competition.

And, local fairs are still continuing.

As summer has slipped into autumn, the main show ring season is beginning to wane. But still ahead are Timonium, Louisville, KILE and, of course, Farm Show.

The past summer of shows and those still ahead could well be defined as a time "In Quest of the Blue."

One 4-H dynasty ends and another begins

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN

NEW HOLLAND — One 4-H family baby beef showing dynasty may have come to an end at the New Holland fair on Thursday, but another in hog showing may have firmly established itself.

The grand champion steer was shown by 15-year-old Lori Martin, R1 Narvon, whose older brother and sister, Ron and Linda, captured similar titles in the past.

And 11-year-old Kenton Good, R1 Denver, made it two years in a row with the 4-H hog champion.

But look out Kenton, younger brother, Kurtis, 10, had the reserve champion this year. They're the sons of Ezra Good, who wears that same kind of cap so familiar at 4-H and FFA hog sales throughout the state.

And speaking of sales, the Good brothers sold their grand and reserve champions to Hatfield.

Hatfield bidder Doug Clemens nodded $4.25 a pound for the grand champion.

"Do you want the reserve champion at the same price," asked Abe Diffenbach, of the host New Holland Sales Stables.

"Sure," was the reply.

So, the Good brothers share a $1,955.00 purse for their pair of 230-pound champions.

Both feeders came out of the operation of Middle Tennessee Livestock Co., Eagleville, Tenn. Kenton's grand champ last year had a similar origin.

Ezra Good, who feeds out about 30,000 head a year, purchases regularly from Mid-Tenn and the younsgters selected their project pigs out of a load.

While only 15, Lori Martin, daughter of Charles and Joyce Martin, R1 Narvon, will likely drop out of the 4-H beef club due to increasing involvement in FFA at

In the Oval Office

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN

Back in the mid-70's,I had the opportunity to visit the White House on three occasions to accompany the U.S. Farm Family of the Year during their introductions to the President. It was during the hectic transitional period of our country and the visits involved three different presidents -- Nixon, Ford and Carter.

Here are a few impressions and memories from those visits:

Nixon -- Aloof and insincere.

Ford -- The most genuinely warm and outgoing.

Carter -- Hesitant and appeared overwhelmed by the office.

Only Ford used the Rose Garden to greet the Farm Family and added an additional personal touch of including other governmental leaders, such as the late Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

Both Nixon and Carter stayed in the safe confines of the Oval Office to greet and talk with the farm family and the atmosphere was much more formal and artificial.

During the Rose Garden session with Ford, I moved off away from the group to get a better angle for a photograph and happened to step around the roped-off area. Somewhere out of the shrubbery suddenly materialized a well-dressed young man with sun glasses and a receiver in his ear. He didn't say a word but firmly laid a hand on my shoulder and steered me back where I belonged.

Probably the most lasting impression of the visits is that of the White House Photo Press Corps. After the initial greeting in the Oval Office and brief discussion with the family, the president would have the large double doors opened and in would pour the TV, magazine and newspaper cameramen.

Well, I have seen half-starved cattle which were better behaved when they were first turned loose to the feed bunk. The stiff, solemn decorum of the Oval Office would suddenly be turned into a shambles.

These cameramen apparently had their own pecking order and seniority, elbows and rough language would control their jostling for front-row positions.

I can still recall one big, hardened North Dakota farmer, who just the week before had wrestled half-wild steers during branding and hadn't backed away one inch. But when the camera corps stampeded into the Oval Office, he automatically stepped back a pace in amazement.

The Farm Family during its stay in Washington had the use of a chauffered stretch limousine, which was also used to take the family to the White House.

I can recall driving through the gate into the White House and a bunch of people flashing cameras through the windows. Boy, were they probably surprised when they got their film developed and found some unknowns in their photos rather than a world dignitary.

Another recollection is that of the luncheon given by the Secretary of Agriculture in his private dining room for the family. The food there was absolutely the worst.

Highlight of the social portion of the visit was always the evening at either Kennedy Center, Ford's Theatre or Wolf Trap.

The Farm Family of the Year was selected through the Farmers Home Administration. Families who were FmHA borrowers and had done a good job of bettering their operations were selected on a state level and then competed for the national honor. They would then come to Washington for the visit with the President, USDA officials and sightseeing, accompanied by their state director and representatives of the host farm machinery company.

The program was started under the Republicans and then disbanded after Carter's first year because the Democrats didn't want to give an impression of collusion between the federal government and big business. It shows how even politics casts its shadow on something as harmless as honoring a farm family.

And one other observation. To get security clearance to the White House, all you need do is submit your Social Security number, under which all information must be filed.

And if I can get security clearance to be in the Oval Office, I would think most anyone can.

A BAD BARGAIN

October 2, 1983

Background Scripture:
Jeremiah 2: 9-13; Romans 1:18 through 2:29.
Devotional Reading:
Romans 2:5-11

I've made my share of bad bargains over the years. Right now a tow car is towing away one of them.

The only reason my bad bargains haven't completely wrecked my outlook on life is that I know that all human beings have a tendency to make them. There was Esau, for example, trading away his valuable birthright for a bowl of pottage. And Judas, selling his soul for 30 pieces of silver. History is a chronicle of one bad bargain after another.

BROKEN CISTERNS

Bible history in particular records a lot of bad bargains. One of God's continuing complaint's against the people of Israel was their habit of trading away their faith in the Lord for something else that was quite worthless. This is the very complaint which God made against them through the prophet Jeremiah:

For my people have committee two evils: they have forsaken me, the fountain of living waters, and hewed out cisterns for themselves, broken cisterns that can hold no water. (2:13).

God is not really talking about water in this passage, but about the worship of other gods. Israel has looked elsewhere for the help and security which only the Lord can give. They have made idols and then worshipped the work of their own hands.

Paul, writing to the Church at Rome, warns them against making the same kind of bad bargain.

Claiming to be wise, they became fools, and exchanged the glory of the immortal God for images resembling mortal man or birds or animals or reptiles. Therefore God gave them up in the lusts of their hearts to impurity...because they exchanged the truth about God for a lie and worshipped and served the creature rather than the Creator, who is blessed forever! Amen. (1:22-25).

LIFE INSTEAD OF TRUTH

Actually, the complaint sounds quite similar to the one God made through the prophet Jeremiah, except that Paul carries it one step further and clarifies the meaning so no one can mistake it: "they...worshipped and served the creature rather than the Creator..." Up to this point, you and I might feel justified in maintaining that idolatry is no longer a problem in our contemporary world. We no longer worship idols.

Yet, though we may no longer fashion gods with our own hands, we are not free of idolatry, for the real meaning of idolatry, as Paul makes clear, is that we end up worshipping and serving the creature rather than the Creator. And that is still a problem with us today, isn't it? We still worship and serve the creations of our own hands: our technology, our material possessions, our own licentiousness. We are still giving to dumb, dead things the veneration and loyalty that belongs to the Creator alone. That is a bad bargain that can never be a good one.

To Prepare For Wheat Planting

Wheat is an important crop in many of our farming programs and the selection of good seed will result in a better crop next year. Due to a general infection of Scab and Powdery Mildew in our winter wheat last summer, growers should be extra careful this fall by planting clean seed. Certified seed would be free of these problems. If you are planning to use home-grown seed, then do an extra good job of cleaning and treating. Vitavex 200 is a recommended fungicide for seed treatment. The fly-free date is either after the first killing frost or in southeastern Pennsylvania, October 10.

Just a few reminders on planting wheat - it should not be planted in the same field more often than once every 5 years. This time period will reduce the fungus carryover in the soil. Plow the fields as early as you can, then disc and harrow to kill as many weeds as possible. It's also a good idea to harrow the field thoroughly the day of seeding.

To Treat Cattle Ectoparasites

With cold weather fast approaching, cattlemen need to begin thinking about treating for cattle lice, grubs, and barn itch.

Grub treatment should be made in late September or October. The greatest number of grub larvae will be killed if cattle are treated near the end of the fly season. After November migrating grub larvae are found close to the spinal cord where their death can produce problems. There are a variety of systemic pesticides that are safe, effective and approved for use on beef cattle and dairy heifers. They can be applied either as a spray, pour-on or spot treatment. In addition to grubs, the same single treatment will also control cattle lice and blood sucking intestinal worms. Some of the recommended insecticides for controlling insects and mites on cattle are Ectiban, Atroban, Permectrin and Ectrin. Follow label directions for correst use.

To Fertilize Alfalfa Stands

After the last cutting in alfalfa is removed, it is a good practice to topdress the field with a phosphorus-fertilizer. Many growers have been doing this for years with good results. The fall application permits time for the soil elements to reach the root zone of the plants and become available for next spring's growth. Well fertilized alfalfa fields will produce more top quality forage and will be able to withstand adversities much better. Also, after the removal of the first crop next spring, another application of fertilizer should be made. Research continues to show that a nitrogen application on established stands of alfalfa is not a good investment.

PIONEER.
BRAND·SEED CORN

"It takes more than good hybrids to get a decent corn crop, but that's the place to start."

"I've learned that whether I like it or not, Mother Nature's the one who decides how good my corn is going to be. 'Course I figure by planting the right selection of Pioneer® brand hybrids I've taken a big step toward improving my chances."

3747

Plant breeders were after a big-yielding, early season hybrid when they developed 3747. And they got just that. In addition to big yields, 3747 also has excellent stalk strength, seedling vigor, cob structure and high test weight. It's a strong standing hybrid that puts out lots of top quality grain.

3389

You'll get top quality grain and lots of it when you plant this hybrid. 3389 is a full season corn with a maturity midway between 3518 and 3382. To go along with its great yield potential, 3389 has excellent standability and disease tolerance for plants that look good all the way to harvest. During harvest, you'll really like what 3389 puts in the bin.

3358

3358 should rapidly become the leader in its maturity class. It possesses outstanding ability to resist root lodging and stalk breakage throughout the growing season. And best of all, 3358 outyields the competition time and time again. This medium-full season hybrid is definitely one to consider for your seed corn package and is a very good choice for no-till and conventional tillage situations.

3184

An established leader in many areas, 3184 has a very large following for one reason...it performs. With the yields that this hybrid cranks out, along with its drouth tolerance, seedling vigor and stalk quality, 3184 is bound to be a favorite for years to come. You'll see some hefty results at the scales with 3184.

Grange to meet

ELIZABETHTOWN — Lancaster County Pomona Grange No. 71 will meet in regular session tonight at 8 p.m. at Commonwealth National Bank, 12 S. Market St., Elizabethtown as guests of Elizabethtown Area Grange No. 2076. Election of officers will be held.

Now is the Time

To Watch For Unwanted Guests

Now that the weather is getting cooler you may find some unwanted guests in your barn and home. You won't see them too often perhaps, but they're there. These guests will destroy more food and property than they eat. The guests in question are rats and mice.

It's estimated that a hundred million rats cost Americans a billion dollars a year. That is ten dollars a rat.

Rats thrive in areas where grains lay on the ground, where trash and garbage cans lay around, and where trash piles exist. Rats not only spoil foods; they kill small animals and chickens. They also carry diseases to men and animals.

Apple Market News

Friday, September 23
Report Supplied by PDA

The Apple Market News begins another year of service for the apple growers of Pennsylvania. This apple season approaches with considerable uncertainty due to the dry weather conditions experienced statewide. It has been reported that the small to medium size bag apples will be very plentiful but the larger size traypack apple will not.

The market indicators point to a strong apple market:

1. Buyer contacts report that the buyers expect the market to be stronger and higher than last year.
2. The economic attitude of the nation will stimulate consumer spending, thus increased fruit sales.
3. The Pennsylvania Apple Marketing Board has increased its media advertising budget to $120,000. All the major population areas statewide will receive radio and TV apple promotional advertisements.
4. The early apple market has been strong all summer. Prices for 12/3# bags were $8.00 to $9.00.
5. Carryover of canned supplimentary fruits are down.
6. Exports are expected to increase; Europe's crop is down. Deals with South America currently are in the works.
7. There are no fresh apples being carried over from the 1982 crop.

The conditions are right for an excellent apple marketing season.

Eastern National to host 1,000 livestock entries

TIMONIUM, Md. — Nearly 1,000 head of livestock from 20 states will compete for breed awards at the Eastern National Livestock Show next week at the Maryland State Fair Grounds.

The 1983 show, set for Oct. 5-8 at Timonium, will be one of the largest in recent years, according to show president, Lawrason Sayre.

Eight breeds of beef cattle will be shown with the Polled Herefords providing the greatest numbers. Over 250 Hereford cattle will parade before Judge W.W. Donaldson, a well known breeder from Ontario, Canada. The Eastern National will be one of six American Polled Hereford "Standard of Perfection" shows in the nation. Exhibitors from as far as Texas and Missouri will be competing for points in this feature show.

Breeders from all over the East and mid-West will vie for premiums and ribbons in Angus, Charolais, Chianina, Hereford, Limousine, Simmental and Shorthorn classes. Sayre reported that numbers are up in all of the breeds.

Important to youth will be the 4-H and Future Farmers of American competition in breeding heifers, market steers, market lambs and market hogs. The Eastern National will be the culmination of these projects for many of the youth, with the animals having reached market weight.

The show competition will be held at the State Fair Grounds, and the "Sale of Champions" will be held at Harbour Place in downtown Baltimore. The "Sale of Champions," listed for 12:30 p.m., Oct. 7, will feature over 40 of the champion steers, lambs and hogs to be auctioned to the highest bidders, on the promanade near the Constellation.

Baltimore's Mayor Donald Schaefer and Maryland's Comptroller Louis Goldstein expect to assist with the auction. The bidding will be open to individuals or businesses interested in purchasing grain-fed livestock, ready for the freezer.

Youth will take over the Eastern National Oct. 8 as teams of four 4-H members and teams of seven individuals representing colleges compete in the Livestock Judging Contest. Over 100 students from 15 different colleges and 60 4-H members from 15 states will judge 12 animal classes of four animals each. Each contestant must present oral reasons for his or her placings on eight designated classes.

Of special interest to youngsters of all ages will be the Kiddie Barn, containing many types of farm animals and featuring hatching chicks. This will be open each day of the show.

Admission to the public is free with scheduled activities from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. each day. For additional information, call 252-3555.

J.C. Enterprises Charolais plans sale of year

BY DONNA McCONAUGHEY

RINGGOLD — "Exciting" is the only word that seems appropriate in describing the upcoming production sale on October 22 of J.C. Enterprises Charolais operation in Western Pennsylvania.

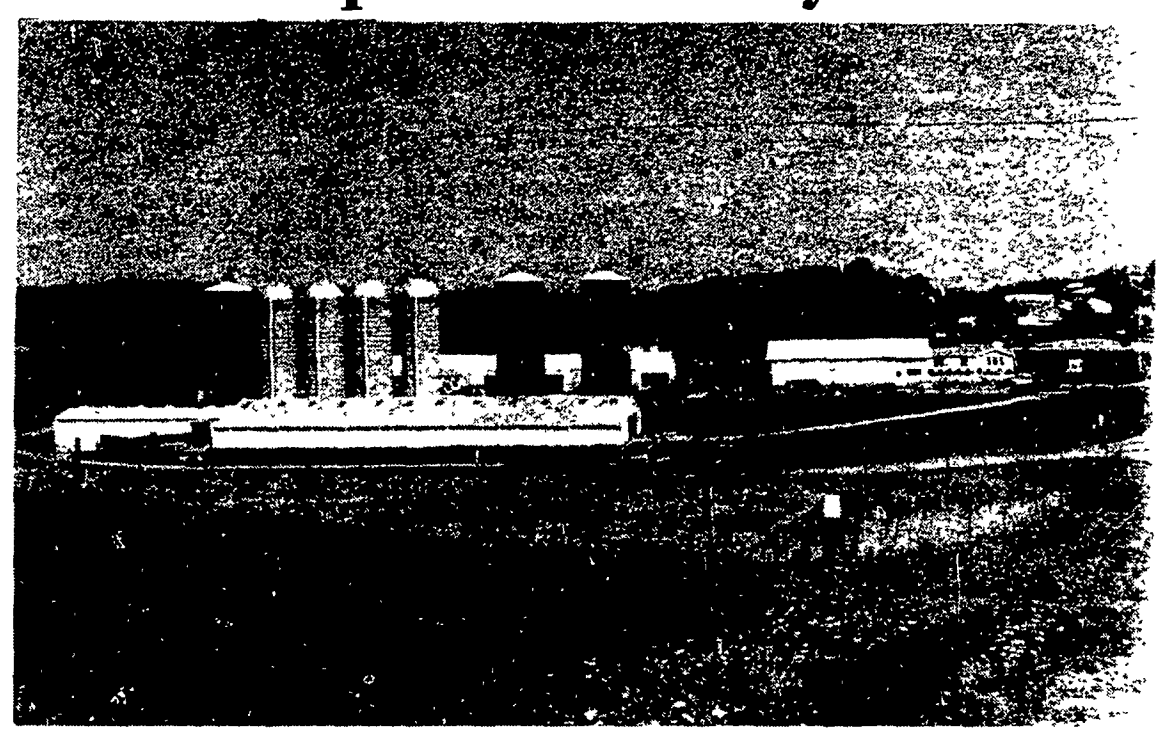
Billed by the American-International Charolais Association as one of the highlights of the Charolais breed for 1983, this event promises to be a great opportunity for people from Pennsylvania and surrounding states to take part in an event of national scale.

Cattle manager, Les Haller, has utilized his many years of personal experience since coming to "J.C." and is very proud of the scope of the planned sale. Several weeks in advance of the sale, reservations have already been received from Charolais breeders in Texas, California, and even Canada.

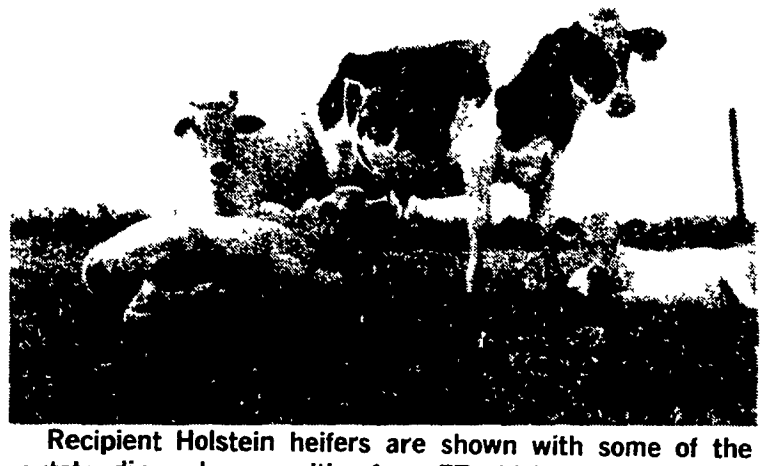
This is the first sale for J.C. Enterprises, which entered the Charolais business more than ten years ago. However, Les states, "We waited until we had top quality cattle to offer, and this is the best we've had in several years." He also mentions that due to the quantity of cattle needed for a sale of this caliber, it will probably not be an annual event.

Also participating in the sale will be guest consignors: Riverwood Farms of Powell, Ohio; Adams Charolais Farm of Springfield, Ohio; and Circle C Charolais of Moorehead, Ky.

There will be sixty lots offered with many being cow/calf pairs which will be split in the sale ring.



J.C. Enterprises facilities are located 24 miles south of Brookville near the town of Ringgold. It is well-known in Western Pennsylvania for its acreage from reclaimed strip mines and its row of silos.



Recipient Holstein heifers are shown with some of the outstanding calves resulting from ET which will be available for inspection sale day.

The sale offering is primarily females with three bull calves included.

One glance through the catalog tells you why this sale promises to be an outstanding one. Not only do you see pictures of National Class Winners offered, but behind this style and high quality are pedigrees that show the breeds' top bloodlines.

Almost every sale offering is sired by a National or Reserve National Champion Bull. Names like "Riverwood Elevation", "Mr. Kinmont", Riverwood Gallant", and "Riverwood Genesis" are included. The Female side of the pedigree is outstanding also.

Lot #1 in the catalog is "Riverwood Jane". Full interest is selling in this cow which previously commanded a price of $20,000 for half-interest in the National Sale. An Elevation daughter and out of the famous HBR Lady Alfalfa, "Jane" has been flushed twice, resulting in 16 fertile eggs on both occasions. Her calves will be on display to show the producing ability of this great young cow (only 4 years old).

In addition to investing in top bloodlines, it is obvious that Les Haller and his three man "crew" have provided the management, knowledge, and skills necessary to produce such an offering. For the past two years every female in the Charolais herd has been bred artificially to the breed's best bulls.

This caliber of a sale has been a goal of Les's since when he arrived at "J.C." a few years ago. One of the reasons they are able to offer some of their best brood cows for sale is the fact that they currently have 56 calves out of their 4 top cows by embryo transplant.

J.C. Enterprises

However, October 22 also will provide an outstanding opportunity for 4-H and FFA members. Immediately after the Charolais Sale, J.C. Enterprises will offer for the first time at Public Auction, "40 Top Quality Steers with 'Class'".

"J.C." has a commercial cattle herd and purchased four 3/4 Chianina bulls at the Denver Bull Sale in January 1981 expressly for the purpose of producing top club calves. These bulls were top quality also as they included the Calf Champion and Reserve Calf Champion Black, The Reserve Grand Champion Black, and the Calf Champion American Bull.

This club calf sale will include 3, 4, and 5-way cross 3/8 Chianina calves out of Simmental-X, Limousin-X, Charolais, CharolaisXAngus, and Black Baldie cows.

"J.C." is relatively new to the club calf sale ring because they have been feeding their commercial calves in their own feedlot.

Although new, their experience shows success all the way. Their calves captured Champions and Reserve Champion honors at the Armstrong County 4-H and FFA show and Champion honors at the Jefferson County 4-H and FFA show. (These were the only two counties they sold calves into.)

Obviously, outstanding quality is a way of life at "J.C." and the club calf offering will include the potential for obtaining prize-winning cattle from what has been virtually and untapped source to this point.

Events are planned to begin Friday, October 21 with an "Open House" from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. with sale cattle available for inspection. At 6 p.m. activities begin at the Brookville Holiday Inn including a standing leg of beef buffet dinner and country/western dancing.

The schedule for Saturday begins with coffee and doughnuts served at 9 along with inspection of sale cattle. The Charolais Sale begins at 12 noon and the First Annual Crossbred-Charolais Base Club Calf Sale will be held after the Charolais sale (approximately 3 PM).

Further information and catalogs may be obtained by contacting Les Haller, J.C. Enterprises, PO Box 90, Ringgold, PA 15770. Phones: Office 814/365-5254 or Evenings 814/365-5459.

The Charolais offering at the J.C. Enterprises Oct. 22 sale will include many outstanding cows and calves from their stylish, prize-winning, well-bred herd.

Maple 'sugarers' hold tour in NW Pa.

BY NANCY KUNICK
Staff Correspondent

CORRY — Northwestern Pa. Maple Producers' Association hosted a successful State Maple Tour Sept. 23 and 24. The two days were packed full of fun and informative places to visit.

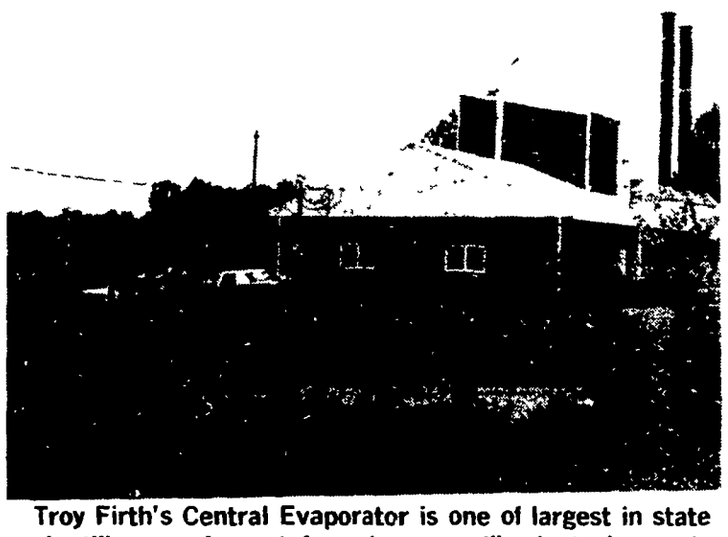
Approximately 100 people toured and also attended the highlight of the weekend — the buffet followed by the coronation of the 1983-84 Pa. Maple Sugar Princess on Friday evening.

For the second consecutive year the new state princess is from Northwestern Pa. Deanne Stalhman, of Reno, in Venango Co. succeeds an "exceptional princess" Kim Walberg, of Wattsburg, in Erie Co.

Deanne was selected NW Pa. Princess on May 23 at the annual meeting of the NW Pa. Maple Producers' Assoc. As a representative of Northwestern Pa. she competed for the state title with Lois French, of Bradford Co. - Endless Mts., and Christine Hyde, of Potter-Tioga counties - Shinglehouse.

Each contestant had to win one of the five district contests and be knowledgable of the maple industry and also meet age requirements. The three charming girls were judged on Friday's tour and at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bacon and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shamback. They were judged on industry knowledge, poise, personality, and appearance. Shamback announced the winners as 2nd runner-up Lois French, 1st runner-up Christine Hyde and the new princess Deanne Stalhman.

Maple Sugar Royalty include, from the left, Kim Walberg, last year's state princess; Deanne Stalhman, newly-crowned Maple Sugar Princess; Christine Hyde, first runnerup; and Lois French, second runnerup.



Troy Firth's Central Evaporator is one of largest in state and utilizes equipment from former milk plants in maple syrup processing.

The new princess thanked the Indians for discovering sap. She expanded on the processing of maple products, which she enjoys at her aunt and uncles' during tapping time. First runner-up Christine Hyde spoke on the nutritive benefits of maple products pointing out that three-fourths cup of maple sugar equals one cup of sugar and is equal in calories. Maple products are 100% natural, too.

Prior to the coronation ceremonies, County Agent Joe Beard presented a slide show and spoke on the 1983 Dow Study Tour. Beard was chosen through the National Assoc. of County Agricultural Agents for his program accomplishments, extension program responsibilities, future plans and professional goals.

He was selected along with 29 other Co. agents to participate in the all-expense paid tour sponsored by Dow Chemicals Company.

The group travelled to New York and into six New England states stopping at Cornell University and viewing various types of agricultural production. Dairy, poultry and horse operations along with maple sugar and fruit businesses were visited from June 20 to June 30. Many of these were unique by being first in technological uses. splants, a barn trimmed in oak, a solar operation and a farm in Washington Co., Maine that yields 1000 lbs. of blueberries hand-harvested per acre.

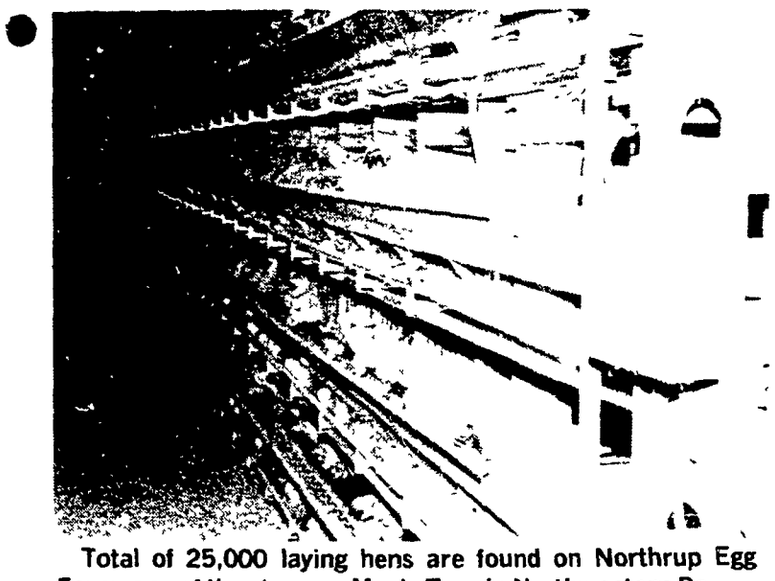
The two-day Pa. Maple Tour began Friday morning from the Corrian Hotel in Corry where most of the members stayed. Three busloads first toured the Northrup Egg Farm, near Corry. A relatively large poultry operation in this area, Gaylord Northrup said their 25,000 hens lay 2000 dozen eggs per day, averaging less than 1 per hen.

Gaylord and Dennis Northrup operate the egg farm with the aid of their parents and families. They purchase day-old chicks and raise them, debeaking at one week to prevent harmful pecking and feed spillage. Every 20 weeks 14,000 chicks are purchased. At that time, the hens which have decreased egg production, at 13 mos., are sold through PFA to companies for soups, sandwiches, etc.

The general comment watching the counting, washing, drying, candling (checking for cracks and bloodiness), and packaging — almost all of this done by machines — was over the size of the operation. Even those living nearby had failed to realize the large scale of the farm. Among those touring with the maple producers was Fulvia Nicoli an exchange student from Italy. She was fascinated by her first visit to an egg farm.

The second stop was to the Phillip Northrup maple sugar house, near Spartansburg. Phillip and son Randy operate a dairy farm along with their sugar house.



Total of 25,000 laying hens are found on Northrup Egg Farm, one of the stops on Maple Tour in Northwestern Pa.

This Spring, egg farmers Gaylord and Dennis, went into the maple business with their brother to purchase new equipment; namely a reverse osmosis machine (RO). It cost $17,000 but has cut fuel costs and boiling time in half.

Bill Coombs, the U.S. distributor of R.O.'s for Memtak from Wilmington, Vt. explained its purpose. "It basically acts as a filter. It takes water out of the sap more efficiently than boiling by reducing the energy needed."

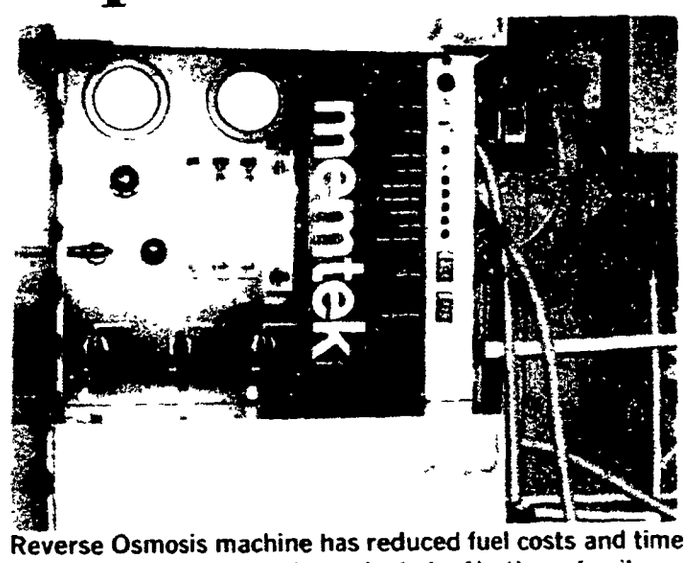
When asked if this was a new addition to maple production he explained that although experimenting was done in the 60's there was no wide use of it until a few years ago. "Energy costs were low then and technology fairly new. Now, with energy costs increasing and with electronic improvements, we've found a place for these machines."

Although these RO's are a large initial investment they not only cut costs and labor but also enable the producer to more readily regulate the color and flavor of the syrup.

Next on the agenda was the Troy Firth center evaporator on Rt. 77 near Spartansburg. According to Troy and Co. Agent Joe Beard this is the largest operation of its kind in the state. In 1983 Firth made 2300 gallons of syrup, about 60% of his normal crop.

Firth has taps all over NW Pa., including 6000 taps on one block (country block). This year he completed his tapping in three days time. He credits the short tapping time to being ready.

"Everything is ready for it-it has to be", he added. He uses all plastic tubing saying he has no use for buckets.



Reverse Osmosis machine has reduced fuel costs and time involved in processing maple products for Northrup family.

Firth devotes the whole year to his operation. Although he can't be working directly with maple products year round he's always readying his equipment by cleaning, repairing and renovating. Then its time to cut wood for fuel and get the tubing run in the Fall before it gets too cold. Troy Firth is the sole owner of the business and employs six to eight people during the busiest time and others as he needs help.

Lunch was served at Firth's by the Sparta Firemen Ladies Auxiliary. Following lunch the tour continued to Troyer's Potato Chip Factory in Waterford. This is the manufacturing plant for Troyer's snacks which are distributed throughout Pa. and N.Y. The tour concluded Friday with a visit to the Corry Fish Hatchery.

Saturday two separate tours were scheduled. The ladies could visit Paschke Mum Farm and then shop at the Millcreek Mall, one of the largest in the Northwest.

The other tour to Northeast, Pa included Larry Young's Fruit Market and Cider Press; Penn Shore Winery; Keystone Processing Plant; lunch at Pano's smorgasbord; and three sugar houses - Owen Johnson's, Greg Walberg's and Charles Bush's.

The Rhineers and rodeos go hand-in-hand

BY LAURA ENGLAND

WILLOW STREET — When the American Rodeo Association (ARA) comes to the Buck Tractor Pull Stadium next Saturday, the competition will have a double meaning for the Mike Rhineer family.

First of all, the contest is the last one before the ARA finals, Nov. 12 and 13, at the Farm Show Building in Harrisburg. A strong showing in this rodeo could mean a berth in the finals for the Willow Street family.

Second, the competition will be stiff and for the Rhineers, the pressure is on since the contest is "close to home." Despite these two factors, Mike says practice and drawing a good calf and steer will help determine the outcome of this event.

The rodeo at the "Buck" is just one of 30 the Rhineers will have participated in during 1983. This year alone, the family has traveled up and down the East Coast, from Massachusetts to Florida, to compete in ARA-sponsored rodeos.

For the Rhineers, rodeo competition is a family event, and all are involved one way or another. Mike and son, Mike Jr., compete in team roping and calf roping events. Daughter Tammy Shearer, now living in York, competes in barrel racing, team roping and goat tying. Wife and mother Darlene doesn't compete in events, but she has a significant role in outfitting her family and manning the video camera to record the competitions.

Just how does a family get involved in a sport most people associate with the cowboys and cowgirls of the western plains?

"I've always liked horses," says Mike who's rodeoed for 22 years. "I liked the idea of calf roping and team roping."

Mike adds that he enjoys traveling and meeting people, but more importantly is his love of horses. "I enjoy horses the most," he says. "I like to have a horse that works a little better than anyone's at the rodeo."

For rodeo competition, Mike says he prefers registered Quarter horses which weigh between 1000 to 1100 pounds and are not much over 15 hands. The seven horses at the Rhineer farm are housed in box stalls to control feed intake and nutrition. They are exercised daily in addition to receiving special training for show competition.

Because of the keen competition, Mike says the horses are trained for a specialty, such as team or calf roping. They are not used much for competition before four years of age, Mike explains. This allows time for finishing and getting a solid, dependable animal.

Team roping training takes about a year while calf roping involves two years of training. "In calf roping," Mike says, "a horse has to work on its own when the competitor gets off its back. There is more to perfect."

As long as it stays sound, a horse can compete for several years. The Rhineers have a 19-year-old horse that is "as sound as can be and as good as any young horse." This particular animal has been hauled about a million miles, and during some years went to 60 rodeos, Mike adds.

Although having a sound horse in the rodeo circles is essential, the competitor needs a conditioning program also. The Rhineers, along with 10 other rodeo enthusiasts, practice every Tuesday and Thursday night at the Rhineer's ring. Besides the horses, steers are also used for team roping practices.

The long hours of practice and traveling to rodeo contests has paid off for the Rhineers. In 1979 and 1980, Mike was the ARA calf roping champion. Mike Jr. was the 1980, 1981 and 1982 team roping champion, and Tammy was honored as the all-around cowgirl for 1980-1981.

To receive these honors, the ARA has established a points and monetary system that runs throughout the year's competition. The points are added up and this determines who goes to the final. Only the top 10 get to the finals, and a competitor needs between 4000 to 5000 points.

"You nearly need to go to every rodeo to get to the finals," Mike adds.

The American Rodeo Association, which is based in Washington, D.C., sanctions the rodeos and writes the rules and regulations. The rules are very stringent, Mike says, and are geared to protecting the rodeo animals.

The animals used in the shows are provided by stock contractors selected by the rodeo committees. The committee groups, such as the Jaycees, Shriners and fire companies, hire the contractor to do advertising, find the animals, set up the arena, and take care of any other show needs.

At the "Buck" show, only father and son will be competing from the Rhineer family. Mike Jr. and his partner, Kenny Brown Jr. from Maryland, will compete in the team roping and the calf roping events. Mike Sr., and his partner, Brooks Staples from Virginia, will compete in the same events.

In setting goals for the contest, the Rhineers will work on their timing in the events. Factors in determining timing are the arena conditions, size of arena, and size of the calves and steers, Mike says.

On the average, a competitor shoots for six to nine seconds in team roping and nine to 15 in calf roping, Mike adds.

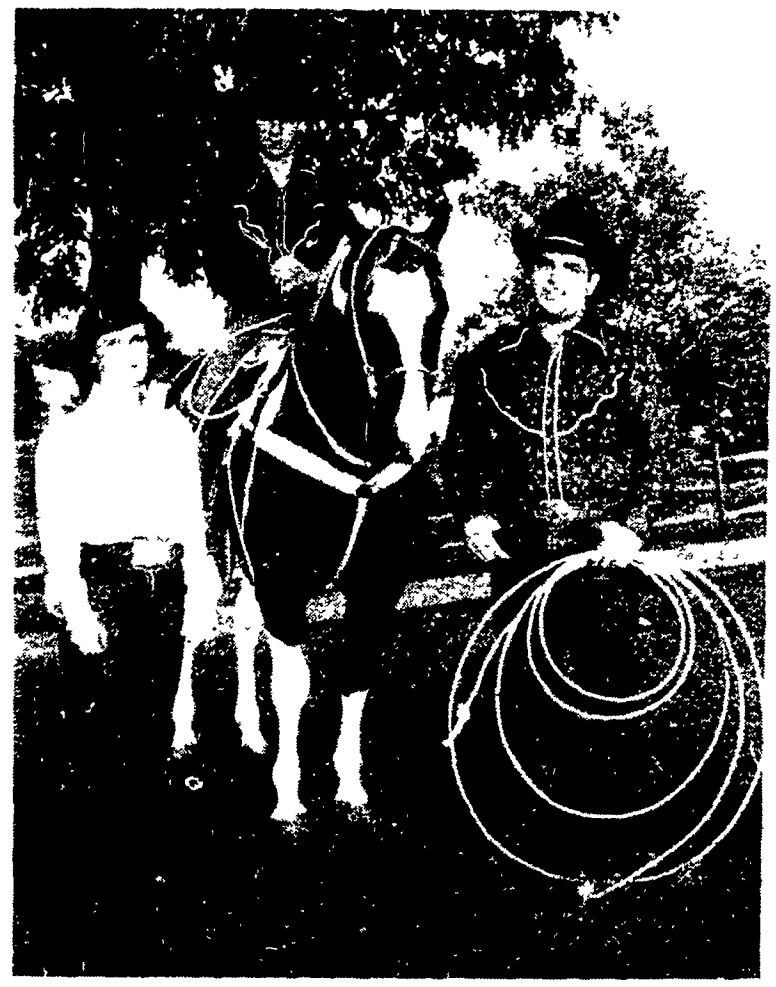
In addition to rodeo competitions, Mike Jr. is also contracted to present trick roping shows. Mike Jr. says he was inspired to learn trick roping after reading Will Rogers book, put out by the Western Horseman Association, on the art.

Mike trained under Dick McCoy, Mount Joy. He says his favorite move is the Texas Skip, a move that's most impressive to the crowd. It took a while to learn roping, Mike adds, and the hardest part was the learning.

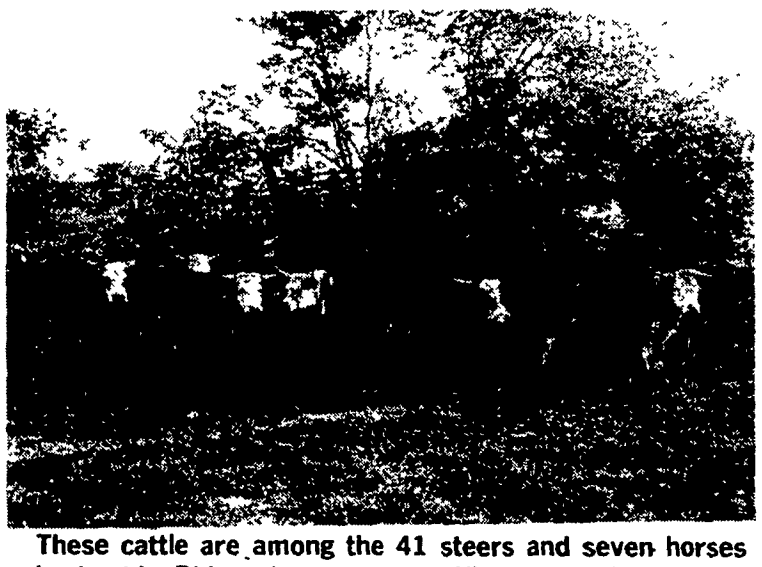
When the Rhineers aren't competing in rodeo shows, they run a rodeo school at the farm and have sponsored schools throughout the state. Students at the school are instructed on roping and receive helpful hints in finding a horse suited to their needs.

Mike Sr., who runs Mike Rhineer Excavating, is looking forward to the final two competitions of the year — the show at the "Buck" and the finals. It's a thrill, he says, to win the finals in your event at the national show because you compete against the top 10 only.

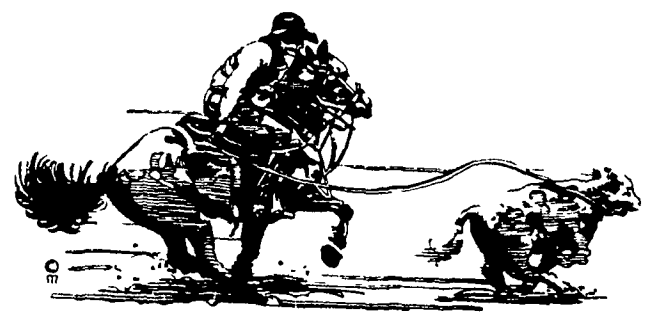
And Mike's most memorable event from rodeo competition was being named champion in 1979. "It's the most exciting and prestigious award," he claims with pride.



The Rhineers, from left, Darlene, Mike Jr. and Mike Sr., are very much into the rodeo scene and are looking forward to competition, Oct. 8, at the Buck Tractor Pull site.



These cattle are among the 41 steers and seven horses raised ont he Rhineer's seven acres. The steers, shown here, are pastured and used for team roping practices.



The 1982 American Rodeo Association champion team roper, 20-year-old Mike Rhineer Jr. is also an accomplished trick and fancy rope artist. In these photos, Mike demonstrates his trick roping techniques.

Eaton tops York 4-H lamb show

BY JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

STEWARTSTOWN — A 105-pound Dorset lamb brought 4-H honors to John Eaton, Windsor, when it topped both show and sale at the annual roundup Monday, hosted by Sechrist Sales, Inc.

After winning the breed honors, and then the grand champion ribbons, Eaton's entry earned first spot in the auction lineup, bringing a sale high of $1.45 per pound from buyer Dealman Enterprises of Warren, N.J.

Reserve champion lamb was the top-placed Suffolk, exhibited by veteran 4-H'er Tom Flory, Red Lion.

High bidder for the 120-pound reserve champion was Ralph Thomas, for Thomas Meat Market at Shrewsbury, with a 90-cent per pound bid.

A total of 40 head of market lambs turned out for the roundup, the first of two sheep show-sale events held each fall by the York 4-H program. Judge for the type placings was Bill Holloway, farm advisor for the Glatfelter Insurance company.

Total weight of the animals offered for sale was 3990 pounds, and average for all animals, including the champion, was $66.56

The Flory brothers shared honors in the Suffolk classes, with Tom Flory topping sibling Tim in the champion and reserve lineup.

Beth Myers earned champion ribbons in the Shropshire division, over reserve winner Jim Caudill.

Championships went to John Eaton in two separate breed categories, the Dorset, where he also claimed the reserve placing as well, and Cheviot division. Reserve honors in Cheviots went to Jim Caudill.

Greg Bankert topped reserve winner Ed Keeney for the crossbred category purple ribbons.

Top-price bidder at the York 4-H market lamb sale was D.E. Dealman, for Dealman Enterprises, paying $1.45 per pound for John Eaton's grand champion.

Tom Flory's reserve champion market lamb sold for 90 cents per pound to Ralph Thomas of Thomas' Meat Market.

New Holland. She's in her second year of FFA and has served as first-year secretary.

She'll likely become more involved in sheep showing, having captured the reserve championship with her Suffolk at last week's Ephrata Fair.

Her 1280-pound Chianina-Angus cross was named Otis, after a humorous character in a play staged at Garden Spot High School.

Her steer, the light heavyweight class champ, was purchased by Leola Family Restaurant for $3.01 a pound.

The reserve champion was shown by Janae Martin, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin, R3 New Holland. Her Chianina-Angus-came out of the lightweight class and was named Easton – after a town she noticed on a map.

The New Holland Club's calves came out of the P.T. McIntire and Sons operation in White Post, Va. The steers are bought by the club and the members select calves by lottery.

Doug McIntire sweetened the prize pot by donating $25.00 cash prizes to class winners and an extra $25.00 to the grand and reserve champions.

Janae Martin's reserve weighed 1140 pounds and sold to Dutchway for $1.50 a pound.

Her seventh year of showing, this is her last. She's recorded three reserve championships in that time.

"Always a bridesmaid; never a bride," she remarked.

Top results in the two shows.

Lightweight Class – 1. Janae Martin, reserve champion; 2, Doug Hertzog; 3. Jessica Hertzog.

Mediumweight – 1, Emily Weaver; 2. Chad Brubaker; 3. Ernest Mast.

Heavyweight – 1. Scott Bailey; 2. Scott Hertzog; 3. Chad Folker.

Both shows were judged by Bill Holloway, of York County.

It was a Good, Good day in hog showing at the New Holland Fair on Thursday. Kurtis Good, 10, left had the reserve champ and older brother, Kenton, 11, had the grand. Doug Clemens of Hatfield bought both for $4.25 a pound.

Pinesedge dominates milking shorthorn show

BY TRISH WILLIAMS

HARRISBURG — Exhibitors from as far away as Maine, Indiana, Massachusetts, Ohio, Virginia, New York and Maryland, competeted Tuesday in the Eastern National Milking Shorthorn Show at the Farm Show complex. Despite the strong out-of-state competition, it was the Sameul Yoder family of Shoemakersville, Pennsylvania, that swept the show with their Pinesedge Farm purebreds.

Pinesedge winnings included, senior champion bull, grand champion bull, senior champion female, reserve champion female, grand champion, reserve grand champion, and best milking female.

The Yoder family owns and cares for over 100 purebred milking shorthorns, in a mixed herd that also includes Holsteins.

Samuel Yoder won the senior and grand champion female with his 4-year-old entry, Seyon Red Rose. As a 3-year-old "Rose" made a 305 day record of 10,305 pounds of 4.1 milk, with 424 pounds of fat, she was bred by Charles Noyes, of Berwick, Me.

Samuel Yoder is secretary-treasurer of the Pennsylvania Milking Shorthorn Association. He also serves as a director for the American Milking Shorthorn Society. He won the Premier Breeder award.

The reserve grand champion, Pinesedge Cherry Cake, is owned and bred by Sam's son, Frederick R. Yoder. Fred was unable to exhibit "Cherry" himself as he is presently student teaching industrial arts, at Governor Mifflin School in Schillington. He will graduate from Millersville University in December. He was signed by the Pittsburgh Pirates in June and played pro-ball this summer on the Pirates farm team in Watertown, NY.

The junior champion titles went to two Maine breeders. Taking the Junior Champion Female, was Seyon Sharon Bluebelle, a senior yearling heifer exhibited by Charles and Edwin Noyes, Seyon Farm, Berwick, Me.

Reserve junior champion went to Sandy River Lena, a senior calf exhibited by Tammy Lisa York, Sandy River Farms, Farmington, Me.

Kuszmar Farm of Batavia, NY also made a strong showing, especially in the aged cow class where they captured the top two places and were awarded the two best udders. Kuszmar cattle placed high in many classes, and won their exhibitors the Premier Exhibitor award.

Judge John W. Rinehart of Taneytown, Md., commented, "Since I saw the show a few years ago, they appear to be a nicer uddered group of cattle, with more dairyness, sharpness, and angularity. I was very pleased with the overall quality, it ran deep in the classes."

Marvin L. Kruse, executive secretary of the American Milking Shorthorn Society based in Springfield, Missouri, said, "Milking Shorthorn breeders have made much gentic progress in the last ten years. We are striving for more dairyness. ... Introduction of the Illawarra Milking Shorthorn bloodlines from Australia has contributed greatly to the improved dairy character of our American Milking Shorthorns."

Top Acres triumps in Brown Swiss Show

BY TRISH WILLIAMS

HARRISBURG — Wayne Sliker stole the show Tuesday, as his Top Acres Brown Swiss took command of the Eastern National competition. The Top Acres herd, of St. Paris, Ohio, topped nine type classes, and five group classes.

Winning the champion bull, junior champion female, reserve junior champion, senior champion female, grand champion female, and total performance, the Top Acres herd tallied enough points to earn Sliker both the Premier Breeder and Premier Exhibitor awards of the show.

Winning the grand champion in the same show in 1979, Sem's Elegant Diana, again captured the grand title. Diana, who earlier this year won the grand champion at the Ohio State Fair, is an aged cow. Her six year, 305 day record, boasts 20,000 pounds of 4.0 milk and 909 pounds of fat. She was bred by St. Charles Seminary, Oh. Diana has been nominated three times for the All-American.

Sliker has shown in every Eastern National Brown Swiss show since it started. And it looks as if his dominance may continue in coming years. Top Acres 2-year-olds dominated their class, winning four of the top five places, relinquishing only third place to Long View Farm of Thurmont, Md.

Reserve senior champion and reserve grand champion was won by, Trotwood Victor Faith, another strong aged cow, exhibited by Dean and Brenda Daubert, Wind Mill Farm, Pine Grove. Daubert recently purchased the Faith from her breeder, Robert and Virgina E. Heizer of Virginia.

Other strong competitors in th cow classes were: Maple Cove Farm, Manlius, NY; Four Seasons Farm, Butler, Pa; Foust Hill Farm, Oley, Pa; Betta Vue Farm, Smithville, Oh; and Burnt Mills Farm, Hollywood, Md.

Judge Willam Etglen, of Virginia Polytechnical Institute commented, "There was outstanding quality in every class. There wasn't a weak class all day. ...The show was very well organized, Pennsylvania is to be commended."

And a grand show it was, highlighted by the Swiss Parade of Champions. Spectators and exhibitors of all breeds gathered to watch as the strong yet graceful champion Swiss cows, donning the tradional cow bells of their motherland, were lead through the ring with an accompaniment of Alpine yodeling. The leaders were dressed in colorful matching caps and vests, carryin on the tradition of the parade that started in 1938.

Langel's hobby earns him Ayrshire championship

BY LAURA ENGLAND

HARRISBURG — A retired Ohio dairyman, who shows cattle as a hobby, walked off with top honors in the Eastern National Ayrshire Show, Wednesday, at the Farm Show Building.

Nelson Langel, owner of the senior and grand champion female, sold his 95-head Ayrshire herd last June and retired from farming. He did not, however, retire from the show ring and in July decided to buy a string of eight show cattle.

Of these eight, Langel got more than he bargained for with Meigs Creek C Fancie Marie who was named the Eastern Show champion. Marie, owned by Nelson and Laura Langel of Scotch Haven Farms, Kirkersville, Ohio, is a 6-year-old sired by Oak Ridge Flashy Classic.

Langel, who's been farming for 60 years, showed Marie at the Eastern Ayrshire Show in 1982 and won reserve grand champion. In capturing the grand title this year, he said his champion has developed and matured more during the past year.

The reserve senior and grand ribbons went to Matoon Pond Farm, Gouveneur, N.Y., and Matoon Pond Carrie's Alison. Owned by John Bell, 4-year-old Alison is a Laurellea Dawn's Bozo daughter.

Junior champion female honors were earned by Barkstead Farm and Galney R. Julia, a senior yearling heifer. Owned and exhibited by Georgia Barker, a chemistry and education major at Mansfield College, Julia also took junior and reserve grand champion honors in the Eastern National Junior Show held in conjunction with the open show.

Barker's senior yearling was sired by Anchor Mere Jumbo. The reserve junior champion of the open show was Cottrells Starman Hulla II, owned by Cottrell Homestead, West Kingston, R.I.

In Junior Show competition, judge J. Douglas Dodds, Brandon, Vt., selected Good Oar Vic's Sunny as senior and grand champion. The 5-year-old sired by Donholm Commander's Victory is owned by Robert Bell of Matoon Pond Farm. Reserve champion honors went to Oah Avenue Supreme of Homestead Acres, Connoquenessing, while Melody Lane Style Design, Echo Notch Farm, Westal, N.Y., won reserve junior honors.

Del Acres Fire Chief, a yearling bull owned by Rockland Farm, Bear, Del., was named grand champion bull of the open show. Reserve honors went to Sunny Acres Roswell, owned by Sunny Acres Farm, Georgetown, N.Y.

The premier breeder and premier exhibitor banners went to Palmyra Farm, Hagerstown, Md. During the course of the show, Palmyra Farm took first place in the bull calf, junior best three females, 3-year-old dry cow, 2-year-old cow, 3-year-old cow, best three females, and dairy herd classes.

The farm also won second in the 3-year-old best udder class and breeder's herd and took fourth in the 5-year-old cow class.

Holstein heifer classes see Ultimate win

HARRISBURG — Almac Astra Ultimate, a senior yearling heifer standing 61 inches tall at the withers, towered above all other entries in the Holstein heifer classes Thursday to claim the Junior Champion title of the Eastern National Holstein Show.

Ultimate was exhibited by Dreamstreet Holsteins Inc. of Walton, NY. Her owner, Frank Wood, might be inclined to say, it pays to buy quality. Wood purchased the Quality Ultimate daughter in August, from her breeder Almac Holsteins of London, Ontario.

Ultimate is undefeated this year in the show ring, both in the United States and Canada. She won the junior champion title at the Ontario Spring Show and at the Delaware County Black and White Show in Walton, NY.

Ultimate is bred to Hanover-Hill Triple Threat and is due in January. Judge Peter Heffering described her as "a tremendous heifer, very stylish."

Rel-Vista Stardust, the second place senior yearling, claimed the Reserve Junior Champion. Exhibited by Stardust Syndicate of Fresno, Calif. Stardust is out of the Star bull.

Junior Champion of the junior show went to Tri-Sec Elsa Erica, a senior calf exhibited by 17-year-old Terry Brandl of Newton, Wi. Erica earlier this year won the reserve junior champion at the Wisconsin State Holstein Show, and will be going on to competition at the Central National Holstein Show in Madison Wisconsin.

Nearly everyone agreed that it was the top bull...all 2,600 pounds. Judge R. Peter Heffering of Fort Perry, Ontario, Canada, was certainly convinced in choosing "C International Genpedra, a massive, well-toned four-year-old as the grand and junior champion bull Thursday.

Exhibited and bred by R. J. Stewart of Pinehurst Farms, Sheboygan, Wis., the champion was sired by "Browndale Sir Christopher." The dam is "International Guinea," and is rated as an Excellent 94.

Both Stewart and "C International Genpedra" are no strangers to the winner's circle. Their winning ways include All-American honors in 1981 and 1982. The bull was chosen as a grand champion in the Eastern All-American, held at the Farm Show Complex; at the Central Nationals in Madison, Wis.; and the Western Nationals conducted in Fresno, Calif. His first entry in the All-American Dairy Show, a junior get-of-sire, came in 1967. He brought four cows, a bull calf and "Genpedra" to Harrisburg for competition.

"We've shown three bulls through the All-American," said Stewart, a 56-year-old dairyman with a 200-acre farm located 20 miles from Tononto, 'Canada. Stewart, who maintains 50 head of Holstein dairy cows, worked as supervisor of the Dairy Herd Improvement with the provincial government in Ontario, Canada, for 15 years before becoming involved in the dairy business as a fulltime farmer.

The reserve grand and junior champion of the show, "Smithland Ultimate Bravely," a junior yearling bull, was exhibited by Smithland Farms of Canastota, N.Y. The entry was sired by "Quality Ultimate." The dam is "Lady Browns Elite Boots."

The reserve senior champion was "Browndale Cosmo," a two-year-old bull owned by Browndale Farm of Paris, Ontario, Canada. The animal was sired by "Browndale Cosmanaut ET," and the dam is "Leslieville Mate Corrine." The reserve junior champion, "Ru-Ann Valiant Justin," was exhibited by Ru Ann Holstein Farm of Avon, N.Y.

Judging of the Holstein milking and group classes was still in progress at press time. Coverage of these classes will be carried next week.

Waverly tops Jersey show

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Staff Correspondent

"We have an outstanding Grand Champion and Reserve," explained Judge Curtis Hobson at the conclusion of the PAA Jersey Show in the Farm Show's Big Arena on Thursday.

"A lot of these animals would do very well in a national show and a lot of them will be there.

Looking at the Grand Champion of Waverly Farms, Clearbrook, Va., the manager of Mayfield Farms in Tennessee and director of the American Jersey Cattle Club said.

"I like her dairyness and strength I just like everything about her."

The Grand Champion, "WF Justin Lanita," a four-year-old sired by WF Generator Justin, was also the senior champion and the best milking female. The sire was also in the spotlight taking the grand and senior champion titles out of the three-year-and-older bull class.

Reserve grand and reserve senior honors went to "Faithful Advancer Colleen," shown by Marilyn Deaven, of Mar-De Farm, Newburg. The 68-pound milker originally came from Clyde McConaughey as a calf.

The Junior Champion, a senior yearling heifer, was exhibited by Mykrantz Bros, of Wooster, Ohio. The reserve junior was shown by Firestone Homestead Jerseys, also of Wooster.

Nabholz Jerseys, of West Union, Iowa, had the grand champion bull, a senior yearling. The reserve grand champion bull, a junior yearling, came from Skip-A-Rilla Jersey Farm, of Toms Brook, Va.

Mar-De Farms was back in the winners' circle with the senior champion bull. The premier breeder and exhibitor banners went to Waverly Farms. The premier sire was owned by Select Sires, of Columbus, Oh.

Grange asks PMMB to issue drought emergency

HARRISBURG — The Pennsylvania State Grange has formally requested the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board to hold hearings to issue a drought emergency order, temporarily raising the price of milk by one to two cents per quart to offset increased costs to dairy farmers brought on by the drought. The request was made at the regular monthly meeting of the Board.

Testifying for the Grange, State Master Charles Wismer said the program would apply to areas most severely affected by the drought, specifically, milk marketing orders I, II and IV. A drought emergency order was issued by the Milk Marketing Board from Jan. 1 to March 3, 1964. The program raised the price of milk by one cent per quart with 40 cents per hundredweight paid to the dairy farmer.

"The Spring was extremely wet, causing corn to be planted late.. then we had a drought with record breaking temperatures and hot, dry winds which caused extensive damage to crops," Wismer told Board members. "The drought has caused a 30 to 80 percent estimated yield loss for corn and hay, according to Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service figures. In monetary terms,. $107.5 million was lost in grain corn, $50 million in silage corn, and $39 million in hay for the 18 declared disaster counties."

As a result of the drought and the federal Payment-in-Kind grain acreage set aside program, feed corn has risen $1.50 per bushel since January, Wismer said. Soybean meal, a major source of protein for dairy cows, has risen in price by $50 per ton.

"Dairy farmers are being hit in several directions," Wismer said. "Crop yields are down so they have to purchase more feed grain at higher market prices. As a final blow, most third cuttings of hay were non-existent in disaster counties."

Wismer said the temporary increase would help ease the blow to dairy farmers while not overtaxing consumers.

Following the Grange's testimony, the Milk Marketing Board voted to defer action on the temporary emergency order "until finite figures could be obtained from the Crop Reporting Service in 1983 crop yields." Chairman George Brumbaugh said the board would, however, "continue to monitor and study the effect of drought conditions as a result of the Grange's request."

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG — Several Junior Cattle Club organizations met at the Farm Show building the night before the Junior Dairy Show to elect 1984 officers and review the past year.

After their business meetings were concluded, youths from the Pennsylvania Jersey Cattle Club, Pennsylvania Guernsey Cattle Club, and the Pennsylvania Brown Swiss Cattle Club, pooled their resources and hosted themselves to a joint pizza party and hoedown. Fun and fellowship were enjoyed by parents and juniors alike and there were over 100 youths participating.

This marked the first year that the Brown Swiss juniors were included in this joint venture by the Jersey and Guernsey youth.

"We noticed last year that the Brown Swiss Juniors also had a meeting and we wanted to include them," remarked Ruth Ann John, Pennsylvania Guernsey Field Representative. Guernsey and Jersey juniors had combined their funds the previous year to host this event which became very popular.

President of the Junior Jersey Breeders, Patricia Dreisbach welcomes Ann Daubert, President of the Junior Brown Swiss Breeders.

The main item of discussion at the Jersey Junior meeting was the upcoming trip to Kentucky for juniors and their animals that qualifing at the Junior Show Organizing the state herd and the trip to the All-American in Kentucky is Robert Robison, President of the Pennsylvania Jersey Cattle Club. Robison stated that there will be fewer animals going this year because truck space will be limited. Juniors will also be expected to pay more of their own way since funds are limited Cindy Waltemyer, Collegeville, will be in charge of the animals in Kentucky, and juniors are encouraged to go to show their own animals.

There was also a report on junior Jersey activities and it was also announced that 959 tickets were sold for the calf raffle at the state sale. Dr. and Mrs. Robert Dreisbach, Hamburg, were again thanked for donating the calf to the junior club for this money raising project.

The election of directors was held and the new directors are: District 1 - Julie Robison, District 2 - Jim Heeter, District 3, - Carol Dreisbach, District 4 - Valerie Minor, District 5 - Jay Clark. was held at the Bloomsburg Fairgrounds. Because this was such a popular and helpful event for the juniors, it was agreed to schedule it for next year.

Ruth Ann Benedict reported on the Junior Heifer Project where the donated heifer was sold by the junior club at the National Heifer Sale in April in Ohio. "I felt she did real well," stated Ruth Ann in regards to the sale price of $1400.00.

Ann Daubert, President of the Junior Brown Swiss Breeders stands with the Vice President, Jeffrey Kennedy. Both are veterans of the showring at the Junior Dairy Show.

The Ag Progress Days Milkshake Booth was again a very profitable undertaking for the juniors. "It was a very successful project," Ruth Ann reported, also stating that she was very pleased with the amount of volunteers to work at the booth. "The list of those helping has doubled," she stated and praised all the youth and their parents who gave their time to the project.

It was also agreed to make a yearly donation of $100.00 to the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Program.

Scott Kriebel, Benton, Columbia County, was elected as the 1984 President of the Junior Guernsey Breeders. Scott owns 10 Guernseys and is currently the President of his local 4-H club.

The new Vice President is Gerald Garber, Lancaster County. Gerald is the son of Ken and Thelma Garber and has been in 4-H for 10 years.

Sherri Zollers, Mertztown, Berks County, was elected as the Secretary/Treasurer. Sherri was selected as the Outstanding Girl by the Pennsylvania Junior Guernsey Breeders Association in 1983 and was also a junior award winner.

New directors are: Southwest District - Ken Corle, Northeast District - Stephanie Holdren, Central District - Francine Martz, and the Mon-Valley District - Jason Ivcic.

The Brown Swiss Junior Breeders were pleased with the large turnout of youth to their meeting. This was only their third meeting, being a newly formed association in 1982. President Ann Daubert rated the attendance "excellent" as 29 Brown Swiss juniors turned out to discuss future activities.

The current officers of the association, President - Ann Daubert, Vice President - Jeffrey Kennedy, and Secretary/Treasurer - Christine Swick, remained in office for the coming year.

Junior activities and programs were discussed and anyone interested in participating in the Bell Ringer Program or the Junior Achievement contest are urged to contact Kerry Boyd, R5, Box 445, Ephrata, Pa. 17522, or call 717-626-0506.

After the juniors of each association concluded their business meeting, they met upstairs to enjoy pizza and an old-fashioned hoedown.

Your Future Is Just Ahead

Some years ago we introduced the truck liner; we knew it was a great idea and Line-A-Bed was born. Since then other manufacturers have attempted to imitate our liner, but Line-A-Bed is still unequalled in durability, craftsmanship and design. Our liner is constructed of a space-age Material that is tough and to prove it, it's backed up with a one year limited warranty. Line-A-Bed is also the only manufacturer that features a patented snap-on tailgate cover. This snap-on requires no drilling or bolting that can give rust a place to start.
So if you're interested in learning more about our liner or consider yourself a prospective dealer, we would be pleased to discuss dealer participation. For More information on how you can be a Line-A-Bed dealer, write or call today. Your future is just ahead.

We started out Number One and we're still Number One!

Dean sweeps steer show

BY KIMBERLY HERR

LAMPETER — Michelle Dean swept the steer show Wednesday at West Lampeter Fair, winning champion in the Future Farmers of America division, champion in the 4-H division and grand champion of show.

Michelle, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dean, Strasburg R1, was participating in the steer show for her ninth year.

The 1210-pound Angus-Simmental-Limousine crossbred, which won FFA honors, was the animal that went on to win grand champion.

The champion was born in Dutchess County, N.Y. It was then purchased by Fred Frey, Quarryville, who sold it to Lancaster County Agent Chester Hughes, who sold it to Michelle.

Michelle's 4-H winner was a 1075-pound Angus-Chianana, purchased from a farm in Virginia.

"My goal is to do well in Harrisburg," Michelle said, adding, "I need the money for college."

Adding to a winning pair was Emily Bachman who took reserve honors in the FFA competition and reserve grand champion.

Emily, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bachman, Conestoga R2, was a first time exhibitor.

Her 1065-pound winner was a purebred Angus, bred by Don Walters, a York County breeder.

The reserve champion in the 4-H division was Chris Armstrong, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs Gibson Armstrong, Refton, who was showing his first steer.

His winner was a 1000-pound Angus-Chianini crossbred, which was purchased from Fred Frey

Hallowell gets national post

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania Agriculture Secretary Penrose Hallowell was elected president-elect of the National Association of State Departments of Agriculture (NASDA) at its annual meeting Sept. 18-21 in Jackson, Miss.

As president-elect, Hallowell is in line for election to the NASDA presidency in 1984. He has served the organization in the past as a member of its executive board and as president of the Northeast Association of State Departments of Agriculture.

Leonard Kunzman, Director of the Oregon Department of Agriculture was elected president of the Association and James B. Boillot, Director of the Missouri Department of Agriculture was elected vice-president. S. Mason Carbaugh, Commissioner of the Virginia Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services was reelected as secretary-treasurer of NASDA.

"NASDA serves as a liaison among individual states and federal agencies for issues, problems and programs affecting U.S. agriculture," Hallowell said. "Through monitoring legislation and regulations, and maintaining close constant touch with the agricultural interests in Washington, NASDA provides information and assistance."

"The Association, because it represents the top state agriculture officials from all 50 states and four territories, is in a unique position to work with federal agencies, and to remind the nation that agriculture is America's number one industry," he said.

NASDA meets twice each year to review national agricultural developments, meet with agricultural leaders and to adopt national "policy positions" which represent the collective thought of the Association.

"I am proud to accept this honor on behalf of the farm and agricultural businesses of the state," Hallowell said. "Pennsylvania is an agricultural leader and this election demonstrates a recognition of Pennsylvania agriculture's importance in the U.S. agriculture picture."

Newcomer wins sheep honors

BY KIMBERLY HERR

LAMPETER — A newcomer to the sheep ring at West Lampeter Fair walked away with grand champion honors Wednesday.

Barry Martin, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Martin, East Earl R1, won the grand champion market lamb trophy for his March-born Suffolk, which also took first in the mediumweight class.

Barry's lamb was bred from his own flock. Barry owns 11 of his own sheep, and his family owns 50.

Although Barry has been showing sheep for six years, this was the first year he tried his hand at West Lampeter. He has, however, participated in the horse show at the fair.

The reserve grand champion went to Deb Martin, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Martin, Conestoga R1.

Deb showed a six-month-old Suffolk, which also took first in the heavyweight class. The lamb was purchased from Jim Stauffer, who also took some first place awards for his sheep.

Deb has shown at the fair for the past four years, winning first place in heavyweight four years ago. She has 13 sheep of her own.

Judge for the show was Tom Calvert, Berlin, who said, "I was born on a sheep farm."

In the breeding classes, Tom was looking for "correctness and soundness from a body structure standpoint."

In the market lambs, he was looking for the lambs that "fit the most ideal confirmation and meatiness criteria."

There were about 80 sheep shown by approximately 24 exhibitors. Suffolks were in the majority.

The results of the show are as follows:

Persistence Pays Off for Horse Lover

BY SALLY BAIR
Staff Correspondent

"If you want something bad enough, you can do almost anything." These are the words of Donna Bean, talking about the 60 120-foot indoor arena which she and her husband, Ned, built this summer for training and riding horses. "You appreciate something a lot more if you do it yourself," Donna says.

She's sure to continue to appreciate the arena, because all the work was done by the "Bean Construction Company," with the exception of drawing up the plans and having someone set the roof trusses.

The addition of the arena to their six-acre Horse 'n Around Farm, north of Manheim, will allow the training and riding lessons to continue through the winter and inclement weather. They hope to add stalls to both sides of the arena which will make room for boarding more horses.

Working with horses is something Donna always wanted to do, and she says forthrightly that she never expected that it wouldn't work out. That's a pretty positive attitude for someone who grew up on Long Island, far from lush meadows and fertile fields. Nevertheless, her family supported her goal by giving her riding lessons and taking her riding, and today she feels she's fulfilling that lifelong ambition.

Her career was helped by a family move from Long Island to Warren County, Pennsylvania, after she graduated from high school. It was there that she got her first real horse, who is still a favorite. "Candy" was a bred mare Palomina Quarterhorse, and from there, Donna says, "My horse family just grew."

She attended Huntlea School in Tennessee where she learned more about riding, training and grooming horses, and also became a certified instructor. When she was an instructor in a riding camp in Ohio, she decided that she wanted Quarterhorses.

Why Quarterhorses?

"They are versatile and have a good temperament, and other breeds take longer to mature. They are so massive and have good muscling - even as babies you can see the muscling," Donna explains.

Donna rides both English and western pleasure, and likes to show animals, both for herself and others. From April until October, she travels nearly every weekend to a show.

While her husband is not "into showing" as she is, Donna says, "He's my right hand man, and has been really supportive of this. He likes to pleasure ride."

It's obvious that he likes horses as much as Donna, because even their wedding took place on horseback.

"It was something I'd always wanted to do," she recalls. In fact, when he popped the question, she told him her dream of being married on a horse, and he agreed then that it was alright. "He thought it was great," she says.

It wasn't too difficult to find a minister who was willing to perform the ceremony, although the first one they asked turned them down because he was afraid of horses. The bride, groom and attendants were attired in western garb, and following the ceremony at the Bean farm, the reception was held in a restaurant which was a remodeled barn. The cake, naturally, was in the shape of a horseshoe. The honeymoon was a trip to the Quarterhorse Congress.

Donna says that once you like horses it gets in your blood, and that seems to be the case with her.

(Turn to Page B4)

The sign and farm name were contributed by Donna's mother, and the actual construction of the sign was done by her father. It beckons visitors who are always welcome.

Homestead Notes

This 60x120-foot indoor arena was completed this summer by Ned and Donna Bean, and will allow Donna to continue to train horses and give lessons throughout the winter. It will eventually have stalls and a washroom added to both sides of the building to accommodate what Donna hopes will be an expanding business.

These two young "babies" are favorite of Donna's. They get lots of opportunity for exercise in the newly constructed indoor arena on the property.

Donna works with Luv Ta Deck Ya, a gelding purchased by her and her husband. Here she puts the halter on in preparation for a workout.

Training horses is the part of the business which Donna would like to expand. Here she rides Luv Ta Deck Ya in the new indoor arena, which she and her husband built to allow training and riding lessons to continue year round.

Horse Lover

When Ned was offered a job transfer to Lancaster County, they searched until they found a place that would be suitable for the business Donna was already involved in. They traded an 80-acre farm for the six acres they now have.

They've been in the area for three years, and Donna says, "It's difficult to get established. The horse industry is very competitive and we had no friends or family."

She says traveling to shows has found her many friends and contacts, and she knows five horse owners within one half mile of her home.

"With horses you get to meet people with horses," Donna says.

Now she is boarding five horses and has 10 students, ranging in age from eight to "grandfathers." Most of the students are simply learning to ride for pleasure, but Donna says she would like to encourage students to get into showing.

She also tries to be realistic with her students.

"You have to be devoted to it. It's a lot of hard work," she says. She stresses safety to the students, and gives them "ground lessons" as well, where they learn to groom and tack up.

"It's really important to learn to care for the horse," she explains.

She says that the tack is really important, and adds, "Your life depends on it. I think you should get the best you can."

"I tell my students that they are not riding a saddle, they are riding a horse," Donna says. She feels students younger than eight cannot understand the importance of the legs and weight in riding.

"You have to have control of your own body to control a horse's body. You have to concentrate and pay attention," she says.

She feels children and horses are a natural combination.

"My philosophy about children and horses is that when I started working and buying things for the horse I never had time to get into trouble," Donna says. "Children need some kind of direction."

She was thrilled when one of her students wrote a book about the different breeds of horses and dedicated it to her. That helps her feel she is having an impact on the students.

Last year Donna spent some time helping with the 4-H Therapeutic Riding program.

"I got a big kick out of seeing those kids ride," Donna says. "We take so much for granted. It is nice to see their progress."

Donna is very particular about the barn and how it looks. She and Ned took stanchions out to make the barn suitable for horses, and she says, "The first impression is so important. It is a reflection of how you care for your horses. I keep it clean and safe. I run a tight ship - sometimes I think the barn is cleaner than the house."

That attitude does reflect on her attitude toward her horses.

"When babies are due, I sleep in the barn," Donna says. "It is wise to be present and we have a cot here."

One future goal is to breed registered mares and sell the offspring. Asked about the market for horses, Donna says realistically, "It depends upon what you have to sell and what people are looking for. This is a good horse area because it is so close to cities and even people from the south come."

Much of Donna's experience has come from practical work. "I learned and earned," she says. Most recently she worked in training and rehabilitating thoroughbred race horses, and states, "It helped me a lot. I gained a lot of valuable experience."

She also reads breed magazines and periodicals, and she is very knowledgable about bloodlines.

"What I like about horses is that each is an individual and there are so many different facets to each. There is so much to learn," Donna says.

Her love of horses is reflected throughout the house, which features her miniature horse collection, begun as a child when she asked for a horse every year for Christmas. There are also needlework horses and pictures of horses. A prized possession is her first horse, a rocking horse which Donna got when she was two.

Building the indoor arena was an important step in Donna's horse work, but it was not one she had contemplated for a long time.

"The spring weather pushed me over the brink," Donna says. The poles were set on Memorial Day and then, "We worked on it every spare moment. I would work on it after lessons." While she didn't relish some of the high work required, Donna reasons, "It had to be done. I didn't look down."

Looking down may have been a problem, but looking out wasn't because the view from the indoor arena is spectacular, with a long view of northern Lancaster County's rolling hills. Donna also became grateful for the preseverance in completing the building because it afforded shade from the relentless sun during the summer, and the hillside location brought cooling breezes as she worked the horses.

While Donna plans to continue with her own riding, and giving lessons, she says, "I would really like to train."

With the arena completed, lessons underway and the possibility of additional boarding space, it seems that Donna is on her way to doing just that. Her determination has clearly paid off, and will help her realize a lifelong ambition.

CRAFT CORNER

Free book for holidays

For all crafters who make gifts, ornaments and holiday knickknacks, a needlework booklet is now available free from the National Needlework Association. The booklet, called "Fast 'n' Fun Needlecrafts," contains six different projects to make in time for Christmas.

Ornaments and small gifts are easy to make using cross-stitch, needlepoint, embroidery, crochet and stitching techniques shown in the needlework booklet. Projects included are multicolored legwarmers, a monogrammed vest, plastic canvas keychain and cross-stitch wreath.

The book is available at fabric, craft and needlework shops. If your local shop doesn't have the booklet, just send your name, address and 25 cents to cover postage to Ellen Appel, "Needlework Booklet," your newspaper's name, Box 1144, Laguna Beach, CA 92652.

While you wait for the booklet to arrive, you can make a heart-shaped sachet. With ribbon embroidery outside and sachet inside, the heart is perfect as a Christmas ornament or special gift.

Here are the instructions for the sachet heart:

MATERIALS: Fabric scraps; lace trim; one-six-teenth inch ribbon; tapestry needle; simple embroidery pattern, iron-on transfer or water-soluble marking pen; sachet or stuffing; sewing supplies; small embroidery hoop.

DIRECTIONS: 1. Draw or select an embroidery pattern, no larger than 4-by-4 inches. 2. Draw a heart shape, no larger than 4-by-4 inches on your fabric. 3. Iron, trace or draw embroidery pattern onto fabric. 4. Embroidery pattern using stitches described below or other stitches as desired.

STITCHES: a. Work outline stitch, starting each new stitch near center of previous stitch. b To form a chain: Stitch a loop; then bring needle up through loop, back down through loop and up through new loop you are creating. c. Work satin stitches side by side

HINTS: To keep ribbon flat as you embroider, slide finger under ribbon as you stitch 2 Avoid knotting ends. Instead, begin and end by stitching through ribbons on wrong side of fabric

ASSEMBLY: 1. Trim heart, leaving an inch all around for seam. 2. With right sides together, baste lace to heart, matching raw edges. 3. Baste ribbon scrap to top edge for hanging. 4 With right sides together, baste heart front to backing.

FINISHING: Machine-stitch around edges, leaving a small opening for turning. 2. Turn to right side. 3. Fill with sachet or stuffing. 4. Sew closed with tiny hem stitches.

3/4 cup granulated sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ginger

4-H Steers Win

NORRISTOWN — The annual Montgomery County 4-H Beef Show was held at the 4-H Center with P.J. Kulp, Collegeville, showing the champion animal while the reserve champion was won by Steve McMahon, Green Lane.

Prior to the selection of the champion steer, the judge and former 4-H livestock member Ted Teaford had selected the following first placings in each weight class: Lightweight - Bridget Young, Schwenksville; Mediumweight - Lem Fagan, Norristown; Medium Heavyweight - P.J. Kulp, Collegeville; and Heavyweight - Richard Roth, Collegeville.

During the selection of 4-H members who best fitter out their animals P.J. Kulp was selected first in the first year class; Tara Bernhardt, Harleysville, in the Junior clan and Phil McMahon, Green Lane, in the Senior group. P.J. Kulp won the champion fitter ribbon, while reserve champion was taken by Tara Bernhardt.

While the 4-H members were parading the steers before the judge close attention was also given as to how they presented their animals. Among those selected in their age classes, champion showman was won by Steve McMahon, Green Lane, while his brother Phil took reserve champion.

Rose Care and Fall Chores

Fall is a good time to give your rose plants the care that will help them through winter and promote more flowers next spring. That's advice from Mary H. Meyer, Extension horticulturist.

If growth this past year hasn't been what you expected, have your soil tested. Then you can fertilize to correct any nutrient deficiencies or imbalances.

Roses grow best at a pH of 6.0 to 6.5. "Soil with a higher or lower pH may have needed trace elements tied up and therefore not available for plant use," says Meyer. Soil test kits are available from your county Extension service office.

After the first hard frost, prune back hybrid tea rose plants to 18 inches in height to reduce whipping by winter winds. In late November, mound soil around the plant so that the graft union is covered by two inches of soil. Bring this soil in from another area of the garden to prevent injury to shallow roots. Remove all dead rose leaves from the ground as they are often a source of disease for the next season.

After the ground has frozen, further protect plants with oak leaves, corn stalks or other organic material that won't pack down. This material can be held in place with a circle of chicken wire or by old bushel baskets with the bottom removed. How neat you need to make this operation will depend on how visible the rose garden is during the winter months.

TEN GARDEN ACTIVITIES FOR FALL

Mary H. Meyer, also says that fall is an ideal time for other garden activities.

1. Plant hardy trees, shrubs, lawns, bulbs, and herbaceous perennials. Fall is the best time for them to develop what they need to survive – roots.

2. If it has not been done recently, have the soil in your garden, lawn and landscape beds tested.

3. Apply the amounts of lime and fertilizer recommended, based on test results.

4. If needed, apply broadleaved weed killers to your lawn.

5. Water shallow rotted plants, especially broadleaved evergreens, following dry spells of 10 days or more

6. Apply mulches where needed around roses, landscape beds, strawberries and other herbaceous perennials

7. Start a compost pile

8. Prepare the garden for spring - incorporate lime, phosphorus, and composted organic matter

9. If rabbits or rodents have damaged plants in the past, provide protection for susceptible varieties.

10. Take advantage of the beautiful weather to build or renovate a fence, walk, or patio

Bats Can Be Beneficial

True or False: Bats are vicious, filthy and disease-ridden mammals that attack humans.

In fact, bats — the only flying mammals — are gentle, intelligent and frequently beneficial animals, according to this month's International Wildlife, the bimonthly publication of the National Wildlife Federation.

Sensational stories often portray bats as aggressive flying monsters that charge at people and transmit deadly diseases. Bats are actually meticulously clean and seldom spread disease or parasites to humans.

Despite exaggerated claims, fewer than one half of one percent of bats ever contract rabies, and only 10 people in the United States and Canada have died of disease from bats in more than 30 years — far less than the number of people killed by dog attacks.

Bats are also gentle and sociable when it comes to rearing their offspring. Most expectant bat mothers join nursery colonies where hundreds or even millions of them congregate to raise their young. While the mothers help each other with child-rearing chores, each individual recognizes and protects her own offspring. Fathers, in the meantime, cooperate by simply leaving the colony, reducing competition for limited food at the site. Among bat species that live in small groups, however, males may help with rearing the young, and bring food home to their mates.

Home for bats is usually a cave, though many also roost in animal burrows, termite and bird nests, unfurling banana leaves, bamboo stalks, or even spider webs. Several make their own homes by cutting palm fronds or other leaves to make "tents."

Most bats migrate in the spring and fall to find suitable hibernating caves or warmer climates, often traveling up to a thousand miles one way. When researchers have deliberately moved bats hundreds of miles, they've discovered that bats find their way home.

Guiding bats through the air is a complex navigational system with sonar more sophisticated than man can comprehend. What we do know is that bats produce rapid pulses of sound at rates ranging from 20 to more than 500 per second, using sonar to perceive motion, distance, speed, trajectory, shape, texture and size — enabling them to detect and avoid obstacles as thin as a human hair or as small as a mosquito.

Because of their intricate sonar, bats are exceptionally long-lived and disease-resistant, making them extremely valuable in scientific research. Studies on bats, for example, have contributed to development of navigational aids for the blind, new vaccines, artificial insemination and birth control methods, drug testing, and studies of aging and space biology.

Bats are also major pollinators of 130 varieties of tropical plants, and the fruit-eating pecies are nature's most important seed-dispersing animals. Included on the long list of fruits, nuts and derivatives from bat-adapted plants are peaches, bananas, avocados, cashews, mangoes and figs.

Despite their obvious value, bats are relentlessly persecuted, and many of their populations are extremely low. Scare stories about bats frighten people into attempting dangerous solutions to minor or nonexistent problems. When people fear bats in their homes, for instance, they may needlessly spray with toxic pesticides — threatening both humans and bats. Acting out of fear, people also close cave entrances — eliminating suitable habitat for as many as a million bats in one cave. Human disturbance can frighten young bat mothers who then allow their young to die.

Bats are legally protected in Europe and the Soviet Union, but in the United States, the only bats protected by the Endangered Species Act are gray, Indiana, Ozark big-eared, Hawaiian hoary, and Virginia big-eared.

Though bats are often protected under state game laws, those laws are seldom enforced, and survival of these valuable mammals depends upon prompt education of the public.

4-H'ers Raise Money

RED LION — The Glen Rock and Loganville 4-H Clubs have raised more than $700 for the Ronald McDonald House in Hershey. The Ronald McDonald House is a home where families from all over Central Pennsylvania can stay while their children are receiving treatment at the Milton S. Hershey Medical Center.

The first Ronald McDonald House was founded by the Philadelphia Eagles football team and the owners of McDonald's restaurants. There are now 55 Ronald McDonald Houses across the country and 20 on the drawing board.

The planned house in Hershey will accomodate fifteen families. Zoning difficulties have been overcome and construction is to begin this fall or spring, with opening set for 1985.

The estimated cost for the House in Hershey is $750,000. So far, $415,000 has been raised. The two local 4-H clubs raised $741.71 by gathering sponsors and donors for a dance-a-thon and by manning a booth at the 4-H Fair last summer.

For information write: Ronald McDonald House, Children's Family House, Inc. of Central Pennsylvania, P.O. Box 232, Hershey, Pa. 17033 or contact Mr. Richard Showers at the Red Lion McDonald's Restaurant.

4-H Judges Win in Mass.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Maryland's "A" team swept to an easy victory in a field of 11 state 4-H teams participating in livestock judging competition recently in West Springfield, Mass. The event was held in conjunction with the annual Eastern States Exposition.

In addition to the over-all championship, Maryland was first in beef and swine judging, as well as in oral reasons. The team placed fifth in sheep judging. It finished 51 points ahead of the second-place Ohio team.

Among individual contestants, Maryland team member Geoffrey Ruppert, 17, Friendship, Frederick County, placed first in the over-all standings. Jeff Hitchcock, 18, Laytonsville, Montgomery County, was fourth, and Jeffrey S. Hevner, 17, Johnsville, Frederick County, finished seventh.

Maryland youth teams had previously won the 4-H livestock judging competition at West Springfield for five consecutive years, 1976-1980. They finished second in 1981 and third last year.

A six-foot porkburger cooks over charcoal coals at Lancaster's Penn Square to help kick off a special month-long promotion of the pork industry.

Giant Porkburger Highlights Pork Promotion Kick Off

BY LAURA ENGLAND

LANCASTER — Something was cooking in Lancaster's Penn Square last Friday and things were getting hot.

It was noontime, and a large crowd had gathered outside the Commonwealth National Bank. People were bustling back and forth, curiosity written across their faces, as a cloud of smoke drifted through the Square, carrying with it an appealing and appetizing aroma.

Indeed, something was cooking and that something was a six-foot, 100 pound, three-inch thick porkburger.

The porkburger was part of the festivities to kick off a special, month-long promotion of the pork industry. Sponsored by the National Pork Producers Council, the Pa. Pork Producers and the Pa. Department of Agriculture, October has been declared Pa. Pork Month.

The promotion's kick off began at noon, Sept. 23, with Pa. Secretary of Agriculture Penrose Hallowell reading a proclamation signed by Governor Thornburgh. In reading the proclamation, Hallowell said that the pork industry "gets the support of my boss, Dick Thornburgh."

Following Hallowell's speech, National Pork Industry Queen Julie Unverfehrt, Okawville, Ill., welcomed the visitors to the Square and invited them to sample the porkburger, along with the entries in the 1983 Pa. Pork Cookout King contest.

Julie, a junior business administration major at Eastern Illinois University, promotes the pork industry nationwide by attending agriculture-related events. She also visits schools and talks to consumers.

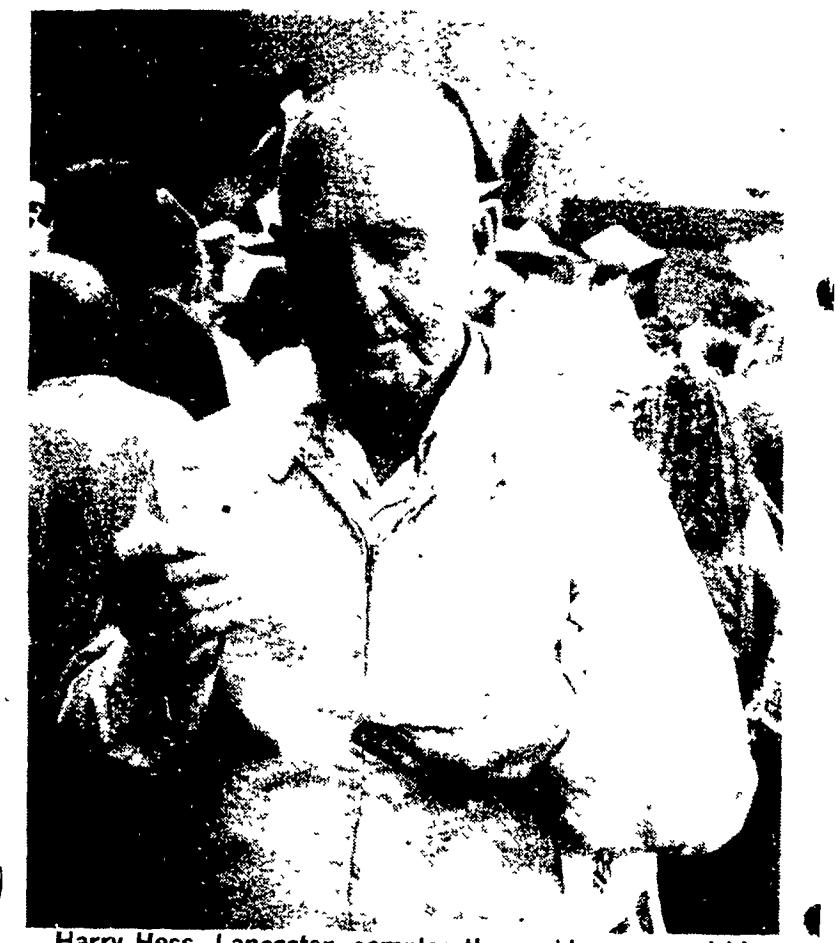
While the crowd was listening to the welcomes from Pork Council members and other dignitaries, pork producers and Cookout King contestants were busy preparing their dishes and passing out recipe and nutritional information. Also floating around and finding their way to jacket lapels and sweaters were round stickers with the slogan, "Lean on Pork."

As the festivities continued, the aroma from the porkburger drew curious onlookers, ready to sample the giant patti. Others were visiting the displays of the seven Cookout King contestants, hoping to catch a glimpse and sample of prize-winning pork recipes.

In addition to the state and national Pork Producers Council and the state Department of Agriculture, Commonwealth National Bank is lending monetary support for Pork Month. According to W. Ronald Feister, vice president and manager of the Agri-Loan Department at Commonwealth, the bank is the fourth largest agriculture lending bank in the northeastern United States.

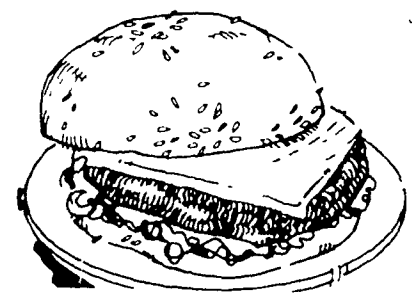
Feister pointed out the importance of the pork industry to the state, saying, "The market value of pork products produced by hog farmers in Cumberland, Dauphin, Lancaster, Perry and York counties were worth nearly $30 million." This was an increase of 15.5 percent over 1981.

Done at last! What started as 100 pounds of ground pork, three inches thick, is now a giant, flavorful porkburger ready for sampling by the eager, noontime crowd at Lancaster's Penn Square.



Harry Hess, Lancaster, samples the porkburger, and his verdict is, "very good, very good."

Pa. Pork Cookout King contestant Larry Hartman, Germansville, waits to hear how National Pork Industry Queen Julie Unverfehrt likes his "Peachie Pork Chops." Hartman was one of the seven contestants vying for the title.



Pork producers pitch in to help serve samples of the porkburger.

Campbell Wins Pa. Rib Contest

HARRISBURG — Willa Campbell, New Kensington, Allegheny County, put her "hand full of this, and hand full of that" pork rib recipe down on paper and went on to win the Pennsylvania Rib Grand Championship.

The contest, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Meat Marketing Program, was held at the Pennsylvania Farm and Food Show at Point State Park, Pittsburgh, recently.

"It was my family's favorite recipe. I always made it with a hand full of this and a hand full of that, so when I read about the contest I put it down on paper to enter," Mrs. Campbell said.

The secret is in rubbing the ribs with vinegar to tenderize them said the cooking hobbiest who "conjoured up the recipe by experimenting. It can also be used for fish or chicken. With beef, I cut down on the brown sugar and add dry mustard."

"Mrs. C's Ribs" won Mrs. Campbell a $50 first prize in the pork division, $100 for the Grand Championship, a $25 meat certificate from Lee Gashel's and Sons, Claysville, and a $20 gift pack from Hatfield Packing Co., Hatfield.

The contest featured use of all Pennsylvania products in two divisions. Finalists were selected on the basis of their submitted recipe, to compete for prizes at Point State Park.

Annie Arnold, Pittsburgh, was the top winner in the beef division with "Annie's Barbecue Beef Ribs." Her delicious recipe won $50, a $25 meat certificate from Kolb & Dickinson Packing, Eighty-Four, and a $20 gift pack from Hatfield Packing.

Honorable mention went to Sonja Levine, Pittsburgh. Her tempting sweet and sour pork ribs won Levine $25 and a $20 gift pack from Hatfield Packing.

Judging the contest were Pennsylvania Pork King Kurt Shriner, Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Queen Sheila Fairbairn and Rose Ferranto of Buona Foods, Chester County.

The Pennsylvania Meat Marketing Program is a cooperative effort among Pennsylvania livestock and agricultural organizations and the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. Co-sponsors of the event were Kolb & Dickinson Packing, Lee Gashel & Sons and Hatfield Packing.

The recipe for the Pennsylvania Rib Grand Championship follows

Mrs. C's RIBS

2 cups white vinegar
6 ounce can tomato paste
2 slabs pork ribs (small end)
1 bottle ketchup
2 whole lemons
2 onions (large, chopped)
1/2 teaspoon red pepper seeds
1/2 cup dark brown sugar
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
1/2 cup water

In a saucepan put onion, lemons chopped with water, boil 5 or 10 minutes. Add tomato paste, ketchup, brown sugar, garlic powder and red pepper seeds. Cook until thick as desired.

Rub ribs with vinegar 1 hour prior to cooking, set aside. Barbecue or broil ribs, basting with remaining vinegar and water until almost done, then continue to baste with sauce until well done.

"We're looking for farmers who want to be good managers and make all their efforts pay off." Ron Feister, V.P. Agri-Loan Department

"In the Agri-Loan Department of Commonwealth National Bank farming is our business, just like it's yours. Our specialized lending group is agriculturally trained and experienced. We don't just know about farming, we've lived it, and our job is to help farmers like you make the most of your resources. So we have an entire support staff of experts who can analyze your financial data and give us the back-up information we need to help you.

4th Largest in Northeast

"Commonwealth National's Agri-Loan Department is the fourth largest in the Northeast, with $74 million committed to agriculture. But we do more than just lend you money. Our officers are available to assist farmers in solving specific problems and promoting their businesses. We're people who can look at your business objectively and recognize opportunities you may miss because you're so close to it. And we've got information on everything from the most efficient way to buy agrichemicals to where new markets are opening up.

The Personal Approach

"Every farm and every farmer is different, so our lending officers analyze each situation separately. We'll drive out to your farm, take a look at your operation and talk to you about your particular needs. We want to help you make decisions that will increase your profit.

Promoting Pennsylvania Products

"In addition to working with farmers individually, Commonwealth National recognizes the importance of promoting Pennsylvania farm products. For a number of years, we've done annual promotions focusing on one product. In 1981, it was eggs; in 1982, dairy; in 1983, pork. We plan to continue our efforts in this direction for years to come.

Real opportunity

"We see the potential for real growth, real opportunity in farming. And our Agri-Loan staff is keeping abreast of all the new developments, so that as farming becomes more sophisticated, we can give you the financial advice you need to grow and maintain a high level of efficiency.

"If you'd like us to assist you, call us at 717-295-3381 and ask for an Agri-Loan officer."

Using his own "HogLog" recipe, Manheim butcher Eugene Wenger was named the 1983 Pa. Pork Cookout King. Pictured, Wenger and his wife, Doris, team up to prepare the dish and pass out copies of the recipe.

Wenger Selected 1983 Pa. Pork Cookout King

BY LAURA ENGLAND

LANCASTER — Manheim's Eugene Wenger makes his living as a butcher, but it's his hobby of cooking that has earned him local fame recently.

Wenger, competing against six other "master chefs," was named the 1983 Pa. Pork Cookout King. The honor came during the Pork Month kick off at Lancaster's Penn Square, Sept. 23.

Teamed up with wife Doris, who passed out copies of the recipe and explained its preparation, Wenger manned the grill for over two hours — the time needed to thoroughly cook his homemade creation

The "slaving over the grill" paid off as Wenger's recipe, which calls for one boneless center cut pork loin, won first place. Although the judges liked its taste and found the dish appetizing, they suggested changing the name, saying "HogLog" didn't have quite the appeal.

Mrs. Wenger said she and her husband enjoy cooking and run a catering and hog roasting service in addition to their butcher shop. The couple also gives demonstrations on pork uses and preparation to civic and community groups.

Other cookout contestants were Dennis Hartman, Newtripoli; Henry Angle, Lemaster; Mike Gladfelter, York; Larry Hartman; Newtripoli; Peter Kroll, Catasoqua; and William Sellers, Chambersburg.

Wenger's winning recipe is found below.

Hog Log

1 Boneless Center Cut Pork Loin (with pocket)

Stuffing

14 Slices Bread
4 Beaten Eggs
1/2 cup celery
1/4 cup onions
6 T Butter

1 tsp. salt

Sauce

1/4 cup fresh mushrooms diced
1 T Diced Onions
1/4 lb. butter
3 T Flour
1/2 tsp. salt
2 cups milk

Mix all stuffing ingredients & stuff in pocket of pork. Cook 2-2½ hr. over a gas or charcoal grill. Put butter, mushroom, onion in pan and fry add flour & milk stir till thick. Serve hot on top of Hog log.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

October 1st! Most people's vacations for 1983 are behind them. Somehow ours never materialized this year. What we did manage was two afternoons on Blue Marsh Lake near Reading. We came home with a few small fish and a sunburn in places that working in the garden and field doesn't get us. Allen enjoys using his electric motor to find new fishing spots, and we always take a picnic lunch along to eat in the boat.

Sometimes I feel that our children made up for our lack of travel. One of them spent two weeks in Hawaii in February and another spent a summer vacation in Canada. Others went to the seashore or to the New England states in the fall to see the historic cities and the beautiful foliage.

Philip and a friend from Penn State spent a week hiking and camping in the mountains of Montana. It's good that they were young and vigorous as their trip was arduous. They camped one night with three inches of snow on the ground and awoke the next morning to see eight inches of snow and this was the beginning of July. A rattlesnake almost bit him and a grizzly bear killed a man in the same area three days before. They saw elk and discovered a lake that wasn't on the map and decided laughingly to name it after themselves.

Jeffrey who lives in Maine didn't need to go away to see wildlife. He was visited by a bear on several occasions and right in his own backyard. You see, it really came to see his beehives and splintered one to get some honey. Even though he moved the hives to the back of his house and left a floodlight on all night, it came again. He finally had to spend a lot of money to put up an electric fence and was advised to hang bacon on it so that the bear would get his nose against it as otherwise he'd simply walk right through it. Let's hope that will help to keep the bears away.

LANCASTER — Wasps are very much in evidence this time of year when sizes of nests and populations are near their maximum. Hornets, yellow jackets, polistes, mud daubers, and cicada killers are all wasps and are considered to be beneficial insects because they destroy harmful insects around homes and gardens. However, if they chance to construct their nests close to (or in) houses and near used yard areas, wasps definitely pose a problem and should be destroyed.

The nests of wasps have characteristic forms and are found in a variety of locations. Hornets and yellow jackets build football shaped, papery nests which may be found in trees, shrubs and under eaves.

Polists build papery, "honeycombed" nests in similar locations, mud daubers build mud-cell nests, but stay away from trees and shrubs, preferring locations under eaves and porch roofs, behind shutters and in attics. Yellow jackets more frequently build nests in the ground as do cicada killers. But cicada killers are solitary wasps (as are mud daubers) while yellow jackets live in colonies (as do hornets and polistes.) Cicada killers and mud daubers are not considered to be aggressive. The other wasps, by nature and numbers are a greater hazard.

Several insecticides are available for wasp control. In general, a spray is used for above ground nests and a dust for in ground nests and hidden nests, within walls for example. Several commercial wasp sprays are available. Sevin may be used as a spray and is recommended for dusting procedures. Products containing resmethrin are also recommended. After treatment, the opening as in ground nests should be covered with moist soil. Do not plug openings to wall nests after treatment until no activity is noticed for several days.

If a nest is in an out of the way area, you might as well leave it alone. Wasps abandon their nests and die off when cold weather arrives, they do not re-use their nests.

HARRISBURG — The 28th Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show featured happy kids, proud parents, and a fine representation of dairy cattle from across the state. Held on Monday at the Farm Show building in Harrisburg, the Junior Dairy show marked the opening of the Pennsylvania All American Dairy Show this week.

There were many first time winners, a few excellent animals returning from last year to repeat their victories.

The juniors paraded their finest before the type judges, Richard E. Keene, Gilbertsville, N.Y., and C. Michael Stiles, Clearbrook, Va., while they displayed their fitting skills to judges, Jeffrey Miller, Harrisburg, and Ginger Myers, Littlestown. Showmanship was judged by Bonnie Miller, Towanda, and Lori Sollenberger, Everett. There was plenty to see as two breeds were judged at the same time in side by side rings. Master Fitter and Master Showman awards were given as the classes were being placed.

Holstein

Jersey

Jersey grand champion belongs to Marilyn Deaven.

Brown Swiss

Brown Swiss champions include reserve of Kathleen Kopistecki and the grand of Jeffrey Kennedy.

"He just loved her size and scale," exclaimed Jennifer Weimer, New Oxford, as she came out of the ring with her Grand Champion Holstein in the 4-H Holstein show. Judge Richard Keene nodded Elsie Weim-Sharr Marvex to the championship and also awarded her the Best Udder. Owner Jennifer Weimer, the daughter of Stanley and Rose Weimer, when asked how her family reacted to her victory, said "They're all thrilled."

"Elsie" is a daughter of Lawcrest Marvex-Twin and took first place in the 4-year-old class before receiving the Senior Champion and Grand Champion ribbons. Jennifer was also awarded the Master Showman and Master Fitter rosettes.

Reserve honors in the Holstein 4-H show went to 14-year-old C.E. Hubbard III, New Cumberland, with his Senior two year old, Kowraygan Creek Linnan Jean, a daughter of Creek Bluff Elevation Lester.

Junior Champion honors went to an unbeaten junior yearling owned by Constanced Ohlinger, Mohrsville. The Ohlinger family was all smiles as Connie and Reu-Hel Farms Valient Cristy went to the top of the line over the first place senior yearling, C Houdale Tempo Racheal, owned and shown by Justin Doebriener who received Reserve Junior Champion.

Brown Swiss

Top honors in the Brown Swiss breed went to Lake Lane Fancy C owned and shown by Jeffrey Kennedy, Butler County. The son of James and Rita Kennedy, Jeffrey owns 7 animals and has been successful at the Farm Show with his Swiss.

Reserve Championship Brown Swiss went to Kathleen Kopistecki, Royersford, with her entry, DN Delegate Dainty, a daughter of White Cloud Doreen's Delegate. Winning comes easy for this pair as they had the 1982 Grand Championship here and Grand Champion in the Brown Swiss breed at the Farm Show for the past two years. Kathleen is the daughter of Stanley and Eleanor Kopistecki and they milk a mixed herd of Jerseys, Ayrshires, and Brown Swiss.

Milking Shorthorn

The Milking Shorthorn breed was well represented. Three Springs P.J. Bell, bred, owned and shown by Christine Young, Newville, was placed Grand Champion over Three Springs Lass, owned and shown by Elaine Benson. Christine's parents, James and Linda Young were the breeders of the Reserve Champion and maintain approximately 100 milking animals on the Cumberland County farm.

Kimberly Benson, Woodbury, proudly showed her two heifer entries to the Junior Championship and also the Reserve Championship. The Junior Champions, Three Springs Charmin and Three Springs BR Jane, also bred by James Young, live with their 14-year-old owner on an all-purpose farm. Milk is used to feed veal calves as the Benson family keeps their animals as 4-H or FFA projects.

Guernsey

The Guernsey breed featured Co-Hill Farms B A Rainy, a junior 2-year-old and her 13-year-old owner, Racquelle Fava, Scenery Hill. Reserve Champion honors went to first time winner here, Jon Zollers, whose aged cow, Foxie Spring Falcon Lady, was shown by his sister, Sherri.

"Usually we get last place," Sherri exclaimed, "this was the first time any of our animals were very successful in the Junior Dairy Show."

Junior Champion honors went to Curtis Feathers of Bedford County with Jr. Reserve Champion going to Justin McMurrary of Washington County.

Jersey

In the Jersey breed, Marilyn Deaven and her aged cow, Faithful Advancer Coleen, were awarded the Grand Championship rosette. Marilyn owns 30 Jerseys and had purchased this Golden Faithful daughter as a calf. Reserve honors went to the 4-year-old entry of Douglas Martin, Chambersburg.

Ayrshire

The Shetterly siblings dominated the Ayrshire show with Deborah Shetterly, Millersburg, receiving the Grand with her senior 2-year-old, Sycamore Meade Champ's Luvie. Deborah also showed the Reserve Junior Champion, Sycamore Meade Lock's Lovely, a maternal sister to the Grand Champion. Her brother, Steve, showed his 3-year-old, Sycamore Meade Champ's Bessie, to Reserve Grand Championship honors.

Referring to his sister, Steven said, "She's been beating me like that all year." The children of Donald and Sandra Shetterly, they explained that their grandfather picks their show animals out of their family's 150 cow herd and has always picked the "right ones".

Holstein

In the Holstein FFA show, Jennifer Weimer exhibited the Grand Champion, a 3-year-old

BIRD-IN-HAND — Today is October 1.

Why is that important?

Well, for most of you, it's just another fall Saturday, but for the Kauffmans of A.L. Kauffman and Sons Fruit Farm, Bird-In-Hand, it is the first day of the busiest month of the year.

You see, Lancaster Countians love to drink apple cider in October, and that demand keeps the Kauffmans on their toes.

Fourteen-thousand gallons of apple cider were made in October of 1981, and approximately 370 bushels of apples were used in the process, according to Norman Kauffman.

And the tangy, all-natural drink seems to be gaining in popularity.

"We are already ahead of two years ago," Norman said. "It's starting out really booming this year."

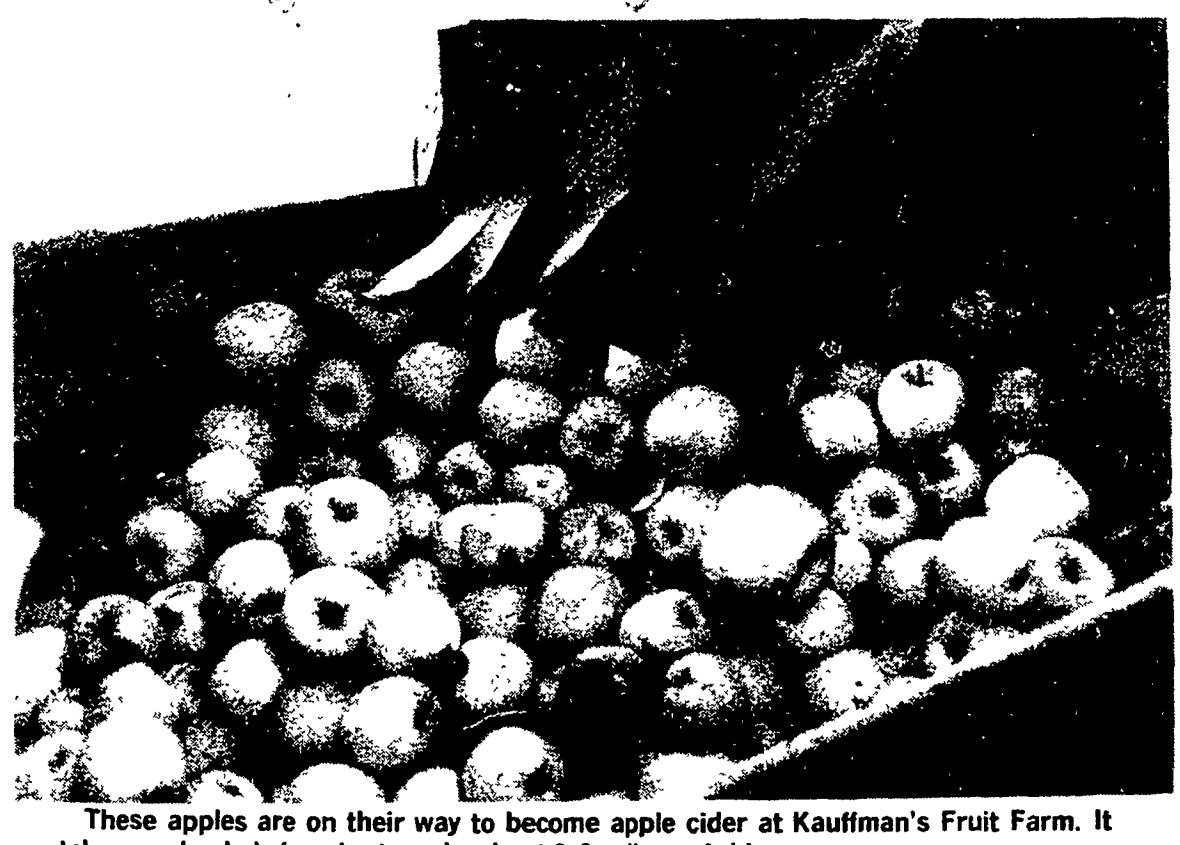
For Carl Kauffman, the man responsible for the giant press, which is located in the back of a large room, noisy with machinery, October means nine or 10 hour days. And this October will be no different, despite the drought conditions that hit the area this summer.

According to Carl the only effect the drought had on the apples was to make them firmer. However, since the apples are firmer, they are not as juicy, but don't worry, the consumers will not compensate for that.

"We won't be raising our prices at all," Carl said.

Raising his voice to be heard, Carl explained how the press worked. The apples are washed and then carried by an elevator into the shredder. They are then carried down into the press, where each roller is located closer to the main drum, causing the apples to be pressed tighter and tighter with each trip through a roller.

Each of the rollers is made out of stainless steel, which according to Carl is easier to clean than other materials. "Regular steel," Carl explained would rust and add an extra taste to the cider.



These apples are on their way to become apple cider at Kauffman's Fruit Farm. It takes one bushel of apples to make about 3.6 gallons of cider.

"Our cider does not hit any other metal except stainless steel," Carl said.

After the apples have rolled through the press, the cider is screened twice to make sure all the apple remains are removed. It is then put into a 750-gallon holding tank in cold storage.

From there, Nathan Kauffman, who does most of the bottling takes over.

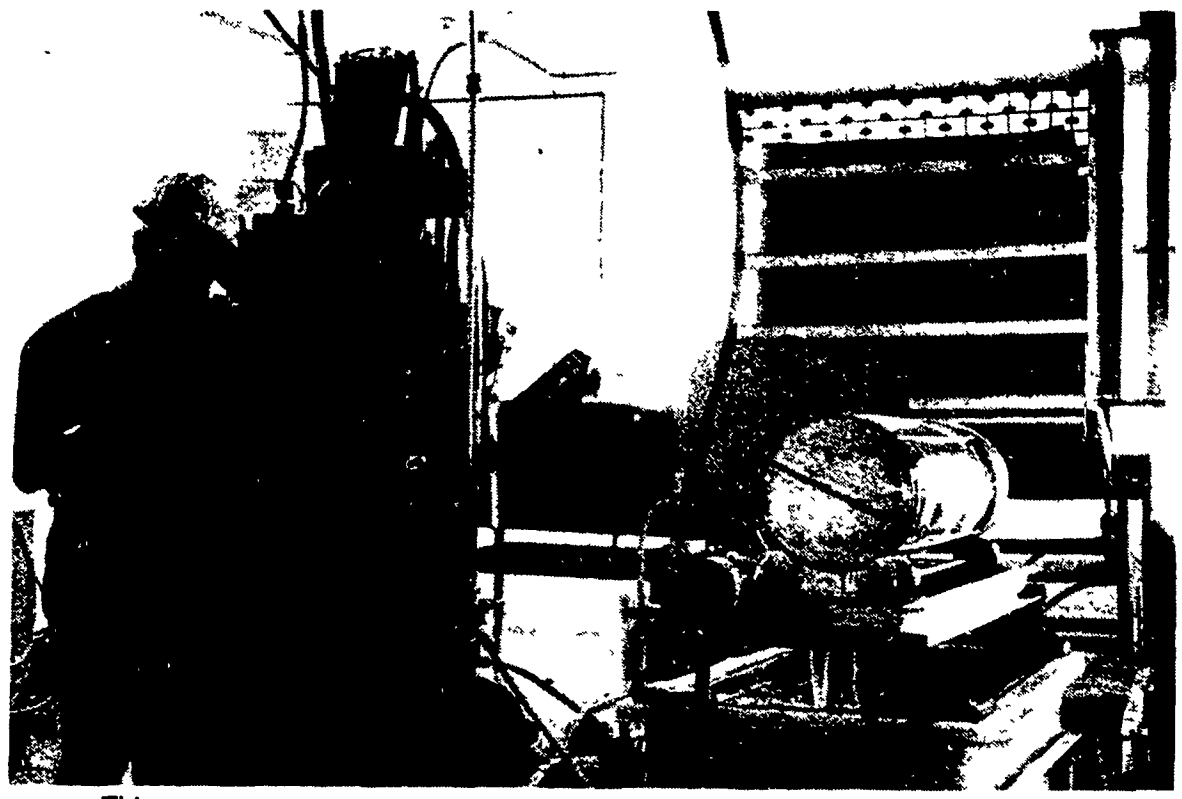
Nathan explained that the apples

(Turn to Page B24)

Filling the many bottles is Nathan Kauffman's job. The cider comes directly from the holding tank in cold storage to the bottling area.

These women have the job of selecting the apples used for cider and those to be sold in the market. Those with outer blemishes are used for cider.

This finished product can be in the hands of the consumer in less than an hour from when the apples entered the press.



This press was the first one of its kind in Lancaster County. It has been in operation at Kauffman's Fruit Farm for six years. Carl has been operating it for five of those years.

Cider Recipes

Hot Spiced Cider

1/2 cup brown sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 quarts fresh cider

Combine above ingredients. Tie the following in small cheesecloth and add to cider mixture.

1 teaspoon whole allspice
1 teaspoon whole cloves
3-inch stick cinnamon
dash nutmeg.

Slowly, bring to a boil, cover and simmer 20 minutes. Remove spices. Serve hot with orange slice floater.

Crockpot Apple Butter

Six pounds mixed varieties of cooking apples, cored, quartered. (They may be pared, but nice red skins add color to apple butter.) Cook with 2-3 cups of fresh apple cider instead of water until the apples are tender. Cool. Put apples through food mill. Measure. Put applesauce into crockpot and cook until it thickens. Add 1/2 to 2/3 cup sugar (part brown) to one cup sauce, depending on tartness of apples. Taste before you add it all. Add two teaspoons cinnamon. (If desired, add 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon cloves and/or allspice). Cook until nice and thick in crockpot. Spoon into hot, sterilized jars to within 1/4 inch from top. Adjust jar lids. Process in boiling water bath for 10 minutes. This recipe can be done in the oven with frequent stirring.

Cider-Drinking Time

can go into the press, be made into juice, bottled and in the hands of the consumer in less than an hour.

But their operation was not always quite so efficient.

Carl explained that their press was the first one like it in the county. They have had the press for six years, and Carl has been making the cider for five of those years.

"This press is a one-man operation," Carl said, adding the old press had to have at least two or three men operating it. "This one is a real labor saver," he said.

But an efficient press is not the only ingredient for good apple cider. The real trick is in the blend of the apples.

"We mix sweet and tart apples together, that's the main thing," Carl said.

When blending the apples, Carl uses Red or Golden Delicious for the sweet apples, and any of the "summer varieties" for the tart apples. However, his favorite tart apple to use with the Red or Golden Delicious is the Stehman.

"They seem to blend together real nicely," Carl said.

But what is the difference between apple cider and apple juice?

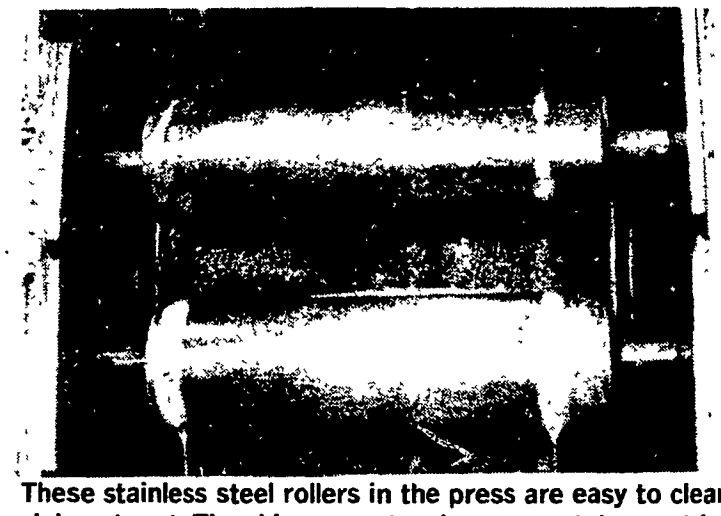
"Apple cider is made without sugar and without preservatives," Carl explained.

The apples used in the cider are selected by the many workers who sort apples as they come from the orchard. Those used in cider are the ones that have some sort of an outer blemish. For example, a summer's hail storm left bruises on some of the apples. These do not hurt the flavor of the apples, but they do hurt the appearance. These go into the apples-for-cider bin.

Not all of the cider made at Kauffman's is sold in its intended form. Some of it is used as an ingredient for their homemade apple butter, and some of it is made into vinegar. To do that, the cider is stored for two years in wooden kegs.

But what about that cider that sits too long to be "regular" cider, but not long enough to be vinegar?

Sorry. That can't be purchased at Kauffman's.



These stainless steel rollers in the press are easy to clean and do not rust. The cider never touches any metal except for stainless steel at Kauffman's Fruit Farm.

Problems Reported with Kerosene Heaters

NEWARK, Del. — As the weather cools down, stores that carried swimming pool supplies a month ago are now advertising specials on kerosene heaters. Before you buy, take note of several problems people experienced with the heaters last year.

University of Delaware Extension Home Economist Debbie Amsden received an unusually large number of calls concerning mildew last winter. Further questioning revealed that most of the callers were using unvented kerosene heaters.

Several substances are produced when kerosene is burned. One of these is water. In a well insulated house, excess moisture cannot escape, so it is absorbed by the walls, concrete, carpeting, and home furnishings. This creates an environment that is ripe for the growth of mildew, particularly in the basement, dark closets, and rooms on the cool side of the house.

Getting rid of mildew can be troublesome. The first step is to wipe down closets with a bleach and water solution, and to keep the doors open for better air circulation. Bleach solution also works well on concrete.

Keeping walls dry can be a tougher problem. It helps to raise the temperature of a room and to improve air circulation, perhaps with electric fans. If mildew does not disappear, the only choices may be to stop using the kerosene heater, or to use a dehumidifier to collect the excess moisture. This may consume as much energy as the kerosene heater saves, Amsden says.

Another side effect of using kerosene heaters has been noted by Extension agents in South Carolina. Last year a number of their callers reported a whitish powdery substance on aluminum window frames in rooms with an unvented kerosene heater. Scientists identified the powder as aluminum sulphate. This indicates that the unvented heaters were emitting sulfur dioxide. When present in the air in excessive amounts, this pollutant attacks the human respiratory system. The problem can be avoided by burning only K-1 kerosene, which has fewer pollution-causing impurities than the K-2 kerosene usually available. Also, make sure there is always sufficient ventilation.

A third unanticipated negative side effect of kerosene heaters results from accidental spills when pouring fuel. The resulting carpet stains are not only unsightly, but also a definite fire hazard. Although kerosene itself does not burst into flame, a tiny spark is enough to set off a kerosene soaked carpet.

Before buying or using a kerosene heater this year, consider the potential side effects and decide whether you are prepared to prevent them.

The Cooperative Extension Service in each county has a free fact sheet, "Heating Safely with Portable Kerosene Heaters." To obtain a copy, call 738-1239 in New Castle County, 736-1448 in Kent County, or 856-5250 in Sussex County.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Like errant autumn leaves, slips of papar gather in corners of our kitchen, peek out at random from a stack of clipping magazines, hang at odd angles from the bulletin board and topple from an uneven stack on the top of the microwave to litter the counter top.

Recipes.

Entree recipes. Cake recipes. Cookie recipes. Casserole recipes.

Recipes from newspapers. From magazines. Neatly written on a piece of notepaper in a friend's handwriting. Scribbled in my half-readable scrawl on the back of a junk mail envelope. Mimeographed by the Extension home economists. Torn from food packages.

To say nothing of the three-foot long bookshelf jam-packed and running over with cookbooks. Full of recipes.

Most favored recipes win their own spot in a treasured, small wooden box given to me long ago by my mother. Some neatly typed on index cards. Others hanging to a card for dear life by a lifeline of aging cellophane tape.

It would be nice to brag that the file box of recipes is up to date, orderly and organized. It would also be a fib. Fact is, there are still recipes in there that I copied in high school home-ec-and have left untouched ever since.

Frequently used cards stick out like grubby, sore thumbs: ragged looking around the edges, torn or tattered corners, splashes and splatters that coordinate with the end food product.

The potato salad is dressed in traces of yellowish sauce, faint red and green sticky spots tattletail the fruitcake recipe and sugar cookie ingredients are permanently preserved with liberal butter smears.

Some cards are pulled from their spots and lose their way back home.

One long-time favorite for microwaved caramel popped corn vanished months ago, sending us into a frantic, but futile search that we have finally abandoned in despair.

It turned up a couple of days ago. Behind the microwave.

Clipped new recipes that are earmarked for immediate trial are tacked in a prominent spot on the bulletin board next to the kitchen sink. Most simply fade into the scenery, growing an aged beige until they finally shatter into tiny bits from brittleness.

You know, you can tell a great deal about an individual by studying their recipe collection. It wouldn't take long to figure out me: most recipe titles start with adjectives like Easy, Simple, Quick, Five-Minute, One-Bowl, or Can't Fail.

If it calls for more than a dozen ingredients, forget it.

It's hard to figure out, though.

With enough recipes flying around to wallpaper a gymnasium, why in the world is it such a pain to figure out what to make for supper?

Ladies Have You Heard?

By Doris Thomas

Lancaster Extension Home Economist

Interdependence Is The Key To Planning For The Future

"Mother suddenly seems to need my help, but I don't know what to do." This statement reflects the concern middle aged children feel when they are caught unprepared with elderly parents who can't manage as they used to.

Many older people today have continued patterns of support to their children long after adult children have left the nest. Older parents often help with grandchildren and running the household. Sometimes they lend financial support as well. That may help allow children and their children to pursue careers, education and other long term goals. But in most cases older parents can't continue their support forever. We all age and change, and our patterns of giving and receiving help must change as well.

Yet changes in these patterns sometimes make us uneasy. The keys to easing the situation are communications and interdependence. Communication is more than a check list of things to be done or a good chat about the neighborhood. Your talks should include serious discussions about the future for you, your parents, and your interdependence.

Concerns about dependence and independence are often difficult to resolve as roles of adult children and their parents change. The more you talk about the ways you depend on each other, the easier it will be to accept the shifting nature of giving and receiving. Here are a few things to keep in mind and convey to your parents as you prepare for the future.

— The amount of help we give and receive is likely to balance out over a lifetime. At any point, we may be on the giving or receiving end, but either extreme, if prolonged, is stressful.

— There are many ways to give something special to another. Just being in the same room, listening attentively, may be the best possible gift we can give. A nod of appreciation may be just the encouragement a tired relative needs at one difficult moment. A cheerfully offered ride to the doctor's office or an offer to do some errands may be the right thing to give one another — Let others give to you Just as you feel helpful and appreciated when you give your time and attention, let others have that pleasure too.

— Consider yourself and your other obligations when someone needs your help. If you plunge ahead without looking at your personal needs, you might become a martyr or short change someone else who also needs your attention. Be honest and realistic about what you can and cannot do for yourself and for others.

Once you've talked about how you can continue to help each other both you and your older parents will be able to plan for the future with interdependence

High Quality Of Home Frozen Foods Depends On Many Factors

Freezing is a popular method of food preservation because it is simple, fast, and if done correctly, causes fewer changes in foods than other methods of preservation.

The quality of frozen foods depends on many factors: the product used, the variety, the freshness of the food, how the food is handled prior to freezing, pretreatments, the type of packaging materials used, freezing rate, freezer temperature, temperature fluctuations during storage time, and finally the thawing, cooking and serving procedures.

Factors affecting the product to be frozen include the nature of the food, its cell structure and microorganisms

Variety factors include texture, firmness and flavor

Freshness of foods frozen hinges on maturity and ripeness in fruits and vegetables and aging, oxidation and microorganisms in meats and seafood.

Time and temperature are critical in the handling stage of getting food ready to be frozen Pre-treatments such as washing, color controls, blanching, and additives also affect quality

A good package for a frozen food must withstand low temperature, be non-toxic, impart no odors or flavors to the food, provide water vapor barrier and be water-resistant. Air must be removed from the container or package, the seal must be tight, and labeling is important so the consumer can use foods within the recommended storage times

How fast a food is frozen depends on the type of freezer, its capacity, how large the frozen food package is, and how much is to be frozen at one time When foods are frozen slowly, ice forms between fibers and between cells and this results in cell rupturing, softness, loss of cell fluids and increased drip

Fast freezing forms ice in and between fibers and cells and results in less rupturing of the cells, better food texture, less drip and better flavor

For the best frozen foods, select good varieties of fresh, wholesome food and freeze it at peak quality Proper washing, sorting, and trimming is essential Some fruits and vegetables must be blanched and sugars, syrups or anti-darkening agents added Skipping steps such as these can make the difference between a product you will want to serve or one you won't

Lancaster seeks Century Farms

LANCASTER — The Century Farms Program, administered by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, will be continued through this year.

The Century Farms Program is aimed at recognizing the efforts of Pennsylvania's farm families who have preserved the traditions and the rural heritage of the pioneer farm.

Pennsylvania's pioneer farmers preserved through all kinds of difficulties. The hardships of farming and settlement were offset somewhat by compensations of farm life. Certain virtues and ideals were developed... thrift, close family and community life, cooperation, reverence for the Creator, self-reliance and a love of liberty.

Over 800 farms from 63 counties have been certified as Century Farms in the first five years of the program (70 in Lancaster County), but the Agriculture Department estimates at least 2,000 more farms are eligible for certification.

To be eligible for certification as a Pennsylvania Century Farm, a farm must have been owned by the same family for the last 100 consecutive years, and a family member must currently reside on the land. In addition, the farm must consist of ten or more acres of the original holdings or gross at least $1,000 a year from the sale of agricultural products.

The Century Farms Program was initiated as part of the nation's bicentennial observance in 1976, but is being continued for its value in promoting the ideals of the family farm and the importance of farming to Pennsylvania's economy. Completed application forms will be held in the State Archives for use by future historians. They will also be recognized at the Annual Agricultural-Industry Banquet.

The application forms are available by writing Century Farms Program, Penn State Extension Service, 1383 Arcadia Road, Room 1, Lancaster, PA 17601 or by calling 717-394-6851. They should be returned by Oct. 25, 1983.

The Timpte Twins are Tough.

Got Grain? Then get the trailers that are Timpte tough... the Super Hopper or the level floor Super Grain Trailer. They're not only built to take it... they're also built to cut fuel costs. The Super Hopper and

"Hitch on to quality"
TIMPTE

the level floor Super Grain Trailers are lightweight and aerodynamically designed to reduce wind drag. When there's grain to be hauled, Timpte does the haulin' best and pulls a lot easier than the rest.

"THE EXECUTIVE" 8085
SERIES II
Computer Controlled Dairy Feeding System

- Feeding Savings more dollars over feed cost
- Improve Herd Health
- Simple Installation
- Program Each Cow to receive the amounts of feed as compared to production
- Easy To Operate

Efficient feeding = Higher PROFITS

Group feeding is costly and inefficient. To maximize your profits, you've got to supply each cow with the exact amount of feed she needs to maintain her milk production level. The computerized Selective Feeder Executive 8085 System lets you do just that. It's so effective, most dairymen find the system pays for itself in reduced feed bills and increased production in less than a year!

It's simple
You determine a daily feeding allowance for each cow by programming the computer to dispense a certain amount of feed during each 6, 8 or 12 hour cycle. You choose a unique ration for each animal by mixing supplement and base rations with the computer.
- Each cow wears an inexpensive, reliable identification tag.
- Cows can feed at any feeding station.
- Feeding auger automatically stops when cow steps away.
- Each cow receives only the amount of feed you have programmed for it.

Money-saving management tool
You can get a printout from the Executive 8085 at any time. Each printout gives you the valuable feed management information:
- Amount of feed programmed for each cow
- Amount of feed dispensed to each cow, this cycle
- Amount of feed dispensed to each cow, this month
- Summary of previous cycle.

You can quickly spot problem cows by asking the computer to print out all cows not eating 75% of their programmed ration.

Total herd management system
For a total dairy management system, connect your Selective Feeder System with our Zenith Farm Management System. Readouts are available in your office on the Zenith computer. Optional software programs allow you to integrate health, breeding, production and feeding management programs in one computer system.

DEALER INQUIRIES INVITED

Grange sale to benefit milk promotion

HARRISBURG — Every dairy farmer who purchases a cow at the Grange's Average Plus Production Sale on Oct. 14, will be contributing to milk promotion in Pennsylvania, according to State Grange Master Charles Wismer.

The State Grange has agreed to donate all of its proceeds from the sale to a milk promotion effort. "We plan to put the money where it can best be utilized," Wismer said. "We anticipate participating in some type of local effort working with restaurants and fast food places to promote the drinking of milk."

The sale is slated for 11:30 a.m. on Oct. 14 at the Melvin Kolb Sales Barn, off Route 283 in Lancaster. Sales Manager Everett Kreider said 55 head of cattle have been consigned for the sale, including top quality registered holsteins from such outstanding herds as Keystone Farms in Northampton County, Mapoval Farms, Inc. in Bradford County, and Richard Troutman and Son in Berks County. The list of consignments includes many other outstanding herds in Pennsylvania, Wismer said.

Last year's sale produced good results for many buyers, Wismer said. "One cow was classified excellent for the new owner and others have produced over 100 lbs. per day for the new owners."

For flyers with a list of consignments and further information, contact the State Grange office at (717) 234-5001, or Everett Kreider at (717) 786-1545.

Prepare now for fall hunters

FORT COLLINS, — Landowners should plan now for hunters who will be requesting access to their land this fall and winter.

"It is inevitable that hunters will ask for permission to access private land. Thinking about it ahead of time will enable landowners to avoid most conflicts and promote positive feelings between them and hunters," said Del Benson, Colorado State University Cooperative Extension Service wildlife specialist.

Benson advised landowners to include hunting management in their normal agricultural operation. He reminded landowners that they are in control but that hunters can and often are willing to share the responsibility of the land.

Most hunters respect the privilege to hunt on private lands, but some misbehave, said Benson. When that happens, landowners often deny access to everyone. He said, "That doesn't have to happen."

Benson said visitors should be told the rules, where they can hunt and the period of time that permission is granted (only that day, throughout the season, etc.). Landowners should get the hunter's name, address, car license number and a signature. Any special rules should be emphasized.

"An arrowhead may be picked up with great excitement and pride. The person may not think that the landowner wouldn't approve," said Benson. That type of incident could lead to conflict, when a simple comment ahead of time would have prevented any misunderstanding.

Hunters also can be an asset to landowners, added Benson. Visitors can become additional eyes and ears for the landowner, finding lost cattle and trespassers. Some even may help mend a piece of fence.

"Good hunters care about the land and usually are willing to help," said Benson.

The goal for both landowner and hunter should be to have respectful, responsible people on private property. "Good outdoor users want the bad apples tossed out as much as landowners do," said Benson.

There are laws against trespassing, damaging property, littering and game violations. Violators should be removed and/or turned in to authorities, said Benson.

"Personal bonds between hunters and landowners can become quite strong," he added. "Many landowners look forward to opening day because friends arrive."

Eastern to hold annual meeting next week

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative will hold its Annual Meeting Tuesday and Wednesday at the Hotel Syracuse, Syracuse, N.Y. Nearly 500 persons are expected for the two-day affair.

Delegates from each of Eastern's 125 local organizations will meet in policy session on Tuesday, Oct. 4. The delegate body is the major policy group of the cooperative, whose actions direct the cooperative board of directors and management. All amendments to bylaws must be ratified by this body, and two such proposals are up for review at this delegate meeting.

On Tuesday evening the Annual Meeting Banquet will be held, with the formal Annual Meeting reports scheduled for Wednesday morning. The banquet will begin in the Imperial Ballroom of the Hotel at 6:30 p.m., and a dance will follow. Stanley Korona, President of Eastern, said the banquet speaker is Arthur Darling, of the Agribusiness Institute of Florida, Inc. Korona said the speaker is dynamic, with a clear message for farm audiences – "Agriculture's contribution to America is a story that must constantly be told."

Korona said that Annual Meeting Committee Reports will begin at 9:15 a.m. on Wednesday. Officer's Reports by Leo J. Connor, Vice President, Earl R. Forwood, Secretary, and George Stambaugh, Treasurer, will follow; and the session will conclude following the addresses of the President and General Manager, Michael Donovan.

At the delegate meeting, bylaw amendment proposals relating to the timing of local annual meetings and certain eligibility qualifications of directors will be discussed. Additionally, delegates will consider at least six resolutions offered for adoption by the organization.

COMPARE CLOSELY
KRAUSE DISCS ARE BETTER

Model 2455 Heavy-Duty "Flex-Wing" Tandem Disc Harrow.
Working width, 35'8".

Krause Rockflex Discs are unequalled in the field.

COMPARE
QUALITY:

TIE RODS AND SPOOLS

Alloy steel tie rods are 1¾" in diameter on heavy duty units (1½" on medium duty). There's a nut on both ends for easy servicing. Krause spools are ductile iron and weigh 20-30 lbs. each. Precision machined with large diameter bells to fit snug against disc blade. SPOOLS ARE KRAUSE MADE.

COMPARE
DESIGN:

FRAMES
Engineered of super strength steel tubing with cross braces and gussets at major stress points.

WING HINGES
Krause uses big 1¾" diameter bolts on HD units (1½" on medium duty) with over 10" of wear surface area.

We have over 400 rockflex discs in the fields of PA, MD, NJ and DE. These Krause owners continue to prove daily that the Krause disc levels and cuts better than any other disc they've ever owned.

COMPARE
PERFORMANCE:

"ROCKFLEX" BEARING ARMS

Krause invented the Rockflex" arm in 1965. This C-shaped arm flexes over obstacles. It helps protect disc blades and spools from breakage.

COMPARE
PRICE: $ PER lb. KRAUSE DISC HARROWS ARE CHEAPER THAN THE MAJORS

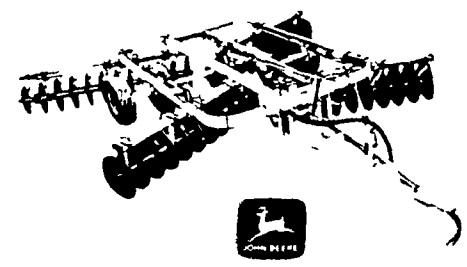
TILLAGE DISCOUNTS

John Deere discounts these new tillage tools by 5 to 10 percent and waives finance charge to March 1, 1984



Just as you're getting into the fall/spring tillage season John Deere announces a big dollar saving offer on major tillage tools. Depending on the tillage tool you buy (see the chart) your dealer will deduct 5 or 10 percent from the latest base machine price. For example the discount on an 18½ foot 235 Disk would save you more than $1 100.

On any of these you can save even more by financing with John Deere. Finance charge will be waived to March 1, 1984 for qualified buyers.*

| Machine | Discount from Suggested Retail Price |
|---|---|
| Moldboard Plows | 5 percent |
| Chisel Plows | 10 percent |
| Field Cultivators | 10 percent |
| Disks | 10 percent |
| Mulch Tillers | 10 percent |
| Mulch Finishers | 10 percent |

*Availability of John Deere financing plans subject to approval of credit. This offer may be reduced in value or withdrawn at any time

BUSINESS NEWS...

Dan Lutz, right, Designated Accounts Representative for Allis Chalmers, discusses the merits of his company's 1600 eight-shank chisel plow with Douglas Johnson, Oxford.

AC showcases equipment

BY JACK HUBLEY

OXFORD — Unseasonably warm weather and dry conditions marked Allis Chalmers' Sept. 20 Autumn Ag Showcase hosted by Hostetter Grain, of Oxford.

Though a raindate of Sept. 22 had been set, precipitation seemed to be the last thing on Mother Nature's mind as farmers combed the fields enveloped in dust and mid-90-degree temperatures.

Farmers who took time out from their busy schedules were treated to lunch and a demonstration of just what Allis Chalmers products could do when confronted with dry, compacted soil.

Factory representatives and local Allis Chalmers dealers were on hand with six tractors to demonstrate the latest in Allis Chalmers tilling equipment including disc harrows, chisel plows, field cultivators and the company's disc-chisel implement, the Mintil.

Highlighting the show were a number of Allis Chalmers front-wheel-assist tractors, demonstrating their four-wheel-drive capability. Allis Chalmers offers front-wheel-assist on all of its tractors from 40 to 305 horsepower.

Though September is traditionally a busy time for area farmers with plenty of corn to be harvested, Dan Lutz, a Designated Accounts Representative for Allis Chalmers, said he was quite pleased with the day's turn-out.

The word for the day was "dust" as farmers took to the chalk-dry fields to test Allis Chalmers' current line of tractors and tilling equipment during the company's one-day Autumn Ag Show Case.

Deere expands utility tractors

MOLINE, Ill. — John Deere has expanded its utility tractor line with the introduction of two new models, the 50 PTO h.p. naturally aspirated 1450 and the 60 PTO h.p. turbocharged 1650.

Both tractors share a number of common features:

The 190.3 cubic-inch 4-cylinder, in line, direct injection engines are water cooled and pressure lubricated. Sliding-gear-and-collar transmissions provide nine forward and two reverse speeds. A shuttle-shift allows the operator to go from first or fifth gear to reverse in one straight-line shift for convenience in such operations as working with a loader.

Standard equipment includes both hand and foot throttles, a mechanical differential lock, and self-adjusting and self-energizing wet disk brakes. Other standard features include Roll-Gard ROPS (canopy optional), seat belt, shaped and color coded controls, neutral-start transmission, PTO shielding, SMV sign, and complete field, highway and safety lighting.

Mechanical front wheel drive is available as an option on either model.

Open-center hydraulics provide a maximum pressure of 2250 psi. Two gear-type pumps are driven off the engine. One 8cc pump provides power steering. A 19cc main pump operates SCV's and a draft-sensing 3-point hitch, Category 2 convertible to Category 1. The hitch is upper link sensing.

John Deere has introduced two new utility tractors, the 50 PTO h.p. 1450 (shown) and 60 PTO h.p. 1650.

Dual SCV's with ISO breakaway couplers are optional.

The standard 2-wheel-drive version of these tractors includes 6.50-16 front tires, and 14.9-28 rear bar tires for the 1450, 16.9-28 rear bar tires for the 1650. Turf tires are available for groundskeeping work.

When equipped with standard tires, the 1450 stands 99.5 inches tall, from the ground to the top of its upright muffler. The 1650 stands 100 inches tall. Both tractors can be equipped with an optional horizontal muffler for a lower profile.

The wheelbase is 82.8 inches. Clearance under the front axle is 19.9 inches. The front wheel tread can be adjusted from 56 to 81 inches; the rear tread from 55 to 83 inches. The turning radius with brakes applied is 9.8 feet.

Standard tires for MFWD-equipped tractors are 11.2-24 in front and 16.9-28 in rear. With this set up, front axle clearance is 17.1 inches for the 1450, and 17.9 inches for the 1650. Turning radius with brakes applied and MFWD disengaged is 10.3 feet for the 1450, and 12.2 feet for the 1650.

Sire Power to be honored for exports

PHILADELPHIA — Clarence J. Brown, recently designated Deputy Secretary of Commerce will present awards to Pennsylvana companies for their achievements in exporting products abroad at the Eighth Annual Pennsylvania International Trade Conference, to be held at the Hershey Philadelphia Hotel on Monday and Tuesday.

Harvestore cites new belting

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, IL — Dura-Glide belting, now available from A.O. Smith Harvestore Products, Inc., is a unique PVC product which is specially designed for Harvestore system feeders and conveyors, spokesmen for the company announced.

Dura-Glide belting is immediately recognizable by its medium-blue color. The material from which it is made is formulated to help assure better belt tracking and improved cold-temperature performance. A special compound is added to the PVC formulation to allow the belting to remain much more pliable at sub-zero temperatures. The benefits of this formulation are especially notable when comparing Dura-Glide belting with off-the-shelf belting.

"Introduction of this new belting is just one more example of Harvestore Products' commitment to staying in the forefront of quality product development, setting the pace of the livestock feeding industry," said Tom Martus, manager of automation products for Harvestore Products.

The belting, which is available in various widths as well as a rough textured version, is now available on all Harvestore system belt feeders and the model 210 and 230 belt conveyors. Extensive testing established that this new belting would provide maximum performance, and therefore the company also announced a full two-year warranty for Dura-Glide belting.

TECHNICIAN EXAMINES new Dura-Glide belting, installed on a model 210 conveyor. The belting is formulated from a PVC material that remains more pliable at sub-zero temperatures and helps assure better belt tracking.

Almquist is honored

TUNKHANNOCK — John O. Almquist was honored and recently received the Distinguished Service To A.I. Award at the largest Sire Power Open House ever.

This year's Open House had a record attendance of over 2250 cooperative member dairyman, friends, and guests gather for this annual event held at Sire Power headquarters, Tunkhannock. Farm families from all over Northeastern Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia, and New Jersey came to view the more than 200 sires and tour the facilities.

Highlighting the program was the unveiling of Almquist's portrait, which will hang in the Sire Power Board room in recognition of the Distinguished Service Award. After this presentation, Almquist spoke about the past, present, and future of the A.I. industry. "It has been a joy to be involved with the development of NEPA to Sire Power. The support and teamwork of this A.I. Cooperative is much appreciated over the years," said Almquist.

Almquist continued to reminisce and speculate on the A.I. industry. He said there were 97 A.I. cooperatives in 1950, and today there are 24 cooperatives. Out of this 24, only 11 A.I. cooperatives produce the 90% of semen marketed.

"A.I. had a hard time coming about in the early days. People thought A.I. would produce weak calves, 6-legged calves, 2 heads, and even glass ears, because of the glass breeding rods," said Almquist. "But, we have survived all that, and now we are on the verge of genetic engineering through A.I. in embryo transfer, cloning, and development of super cows and bulls."

He said we have the capacity to engineer and control the development of birth. "In about 10 years, frozen, taylor-made embryos will be available from your technician," said Alqmuist.

Comments were also made on determining the sex of 6-day-old embryos with a current accuracy of 92-94%, and also on the future of sexing sperm. Almquist concluded by encouraging the dairymen to select higher PD bulls from Sire Power to keep pace with the rapid genetic progress of the '80's. "Sire Power has the kind of bull power and programs for the progressive dairymen," he added.

Purina announces health products

ST LOUIS, Mo. Three new products from Ralston Purina's Health Products Division have been introduced and incorporated into a complete swine dysentery (bloody scours) treatment and control program

Purina Chek-R-Scour Soluble Powder dysentery treatment is positioned as the first line attack against this fast-spreading, herd-decimating disease The lincomycin hydrochloride active product is water soluble to treat even off-feed pigs, as speed is of the essence in this rapidly debilitating disease. Purina Chek-R-Scour Soluble Powder is available in a 40-gram packet which medicates 64 gallons of drinking water or approximately 105/40 lb. feeder pigs depending on water consumption.

The next important product in the program is Purina Chek-R-Scour Plus antibiotic medicated feed pre-mix It continues the lincomycin hydrochloride, but also has additional vitamins and minerals and lysine supplements to restore needed levels to hogs whose intestinal systems are not capable of adequate absorption for maximum recovery. Purina Chek-R-Scour Plus is manufactured in 40 lb. bags. Treatment level is one bag added to one ton of feed. Treatment period is for three weeks.

The last product in the Purina Program is Purina Chek-R-Ton LI medicated feed additive. Purina Chek-R-Ton LI provides an ongoing control against recurrences which are common to this disease. Purina Chek-R-Ton LI is fed until six days before slaughter. It is available in a 5 lb. bag which replaces 5 lbs. of grain in making a ton of feed to provide recommended control levels

The entire treatment and control program with Purina products to carry out each phase are presented in a new handout brochure which is available to the public It is titled Purina Swine Dysentery Treatment and Control Program

ADA starts promotion hotline

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — New Jersey and Pennsylvania Dairy Farmers now have access to an 800 hotline number placing them in direct contact with the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council staff. It is available by dialing 1-800-HOT-MILK.

The hotline will serve a number of functions, the most important of which is to provide producers with an open line to ADA/DC. According to Ralph L. Lindsey, Jr., Executive Vice President, "We want to hear from our dairy farmers." The hotline is the most direct way of doing this.

The ADA/DC staff is interested in questions, suggestions and comments concerning promotional programs, current industry issues, and dairying in general. The goal is to eliminate communication barriers and establish a free exchange of ideas and information between ADA/DC and its producers. Each call will be given prompt attention by appropriate staff members.

Got a question? An opinion? A suggestion? ADA/DC wants to hear from you. The hotline service begins in October. We're looking forward to your calls.

Ephrata Fair names Holstein champions

Competition at the Ephrata Fair concluded Friday, Sept. 23, with the 4-H and FFA dairy show.

Grand champion of the Holstein Show was a six-year-old shown by 11-year-old Jennifer Stauffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stauffer, R1 Ephrata.

The stylish Ex.-91 Sunny Craft Chief Sandy was a replacement for the youthful exhibitor when her 4-H project cow had been included in the family's recent herd dispersal. A real "looker," the six-year-old black and white had encountered some hardware problems which affected her production and was kept out of the dispersal.

The reserve grand championship went to the senior two-year-old of J. Marvin Zimmerman, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Zimmerman, of Ephrata.

HOW TO MAKE FEED MORE DIGESTIBLE, MORE PALATABLE, AND MORE NUTRITIOUS

Install a LONG Oxygen Limiting Glass-Lined Storage System for storing high moisture grain and medium moisture forages. Our glass-fused-to-steel wall sheets and roof panels, and the breather bag system limit the amount of oxygen which contacts the feed, thereby limiting the amount of fermentation that occurs within the structure. Feed stays fresh longer and the need for drying equipment is eliminated. Feed tastes better too, and helps obtain greater milk production and weight gain at a more economical price.

Come in today and let us show you how a LONG Oxygen Limiting, Glass-Lined Storage System can help you save money.

Grant and Edna Worthington, R1 Unityville, display their Century Farm certificate.

Lycoming Century Farm honored

UNITYVILLE — Grant and Edna Worthington, Unityville R1, were presented with a Pennsylvania Century Farm Award recently.

Grant's grandfather, Frank Worthington, purchased 100 acres of land on August 15, 1881 in Jordan Township, Lycoming County. Frank cleared most of this land and built the present buildings. He raised dairy cattle, and had an apple orchard.

In 1924, Harry Worthington, Grant's father, bought the farm and continued the dairy operation along with beef cattle and hogs. He used horses to till the soil and harvest the crops.

In October 1953, Grant, one of twelve children, purchased the farm from his father and continues to operate this farm today. At one time, Grant and his father farmed five different farms at one time, using horses. Grant and Edna still do all of their own farm work, making 3,500 bales of hay, raising corn, cutting grain, etc., on this original 100-acre farmstead.

The Pennsylvania Century Farm Award is presented by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the Cooperative Extension Service Marlin H. McClellan, Region 2 Director of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture in Williamsport; and William E Messersmith, County Extension Director of the Lycoming County Cooperative Extension Service in Williamsport, presented the award to the Worthington's recently

Rabenold tops swine show

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Staff Correspondents

READING — Todd Rabenold, an 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rabenold, R2 Kutztown, exhibited his purebred Hampshire hog to the grand championship in the Market Swine classes and also showed the grand champion pair of hogs.

Taking advantage of the 35 years of experience of his father and his grandfather, who have raised purebred Hampshires on the home farm, Todd, a first year showman, purchased his stock from his father and relied on his parents' help in proper showing techniques.

The Rabenold Hampshires are shown at the Farm Show every year and have enjoyed success there. This year they exhibited the top pen of Hampshire boars at the Penn State Test Station and had three of the 10 top selling hogs. Todd's champion hog is from the same sire as these boars.

Todd currently owns three pigs and belongs to the 4-H Swine Club and Beef Club. "He likes pigs better," his dad said "but he has some to learn yet."

Todd was also successful in the fitting classes and received a first place in his age group.

Grand champion showman was Greg Stricker, R1 Bernville, with Henry Seidel, R1 Lenhartsville, getting the reserve spot.

The Fitting contest featured a pair of friends who shared their assets before the show. Mark Price said he had no money for breakfast that morning at the fair, so he made a deal with Kenianne Rarick that if she bought him breakfast, he would wash her pigs., Kenianne, an expert clipper, had just been paid for clipping a steer and was willing to share.

When the dust cleared in the fitting contest, Kenianne Rarick, R2 Reading, was selected as grand champion fitter because of the "cleanliness" of her pig. Mark Price was named reserve champion. Laughing about their deal after the show, Mark explained, "I was hungry," and Kenianne said she was just trying to help him out.

In the showmanship and fitting contests the winners were as follows:

Ages 15 and over: Showmanship — Greg Zook, Charles Seidel and Kenianne Rarick; Fitting — Kenianne Rarick, Charles Seidel and Harold Dietrich. Ages 12 to 14: Showmanship — Greg Stricker, Henry Seidel and Merlin Scott; Fitting — Mark Price, Steve Rohrbach and Greg Stricker. Ages eight to 11: Showmanship — Valerie Hunter, Randy Balthaser and Jina Letterman; Fitting — Todd Rabenold, Valerie Hunter, and Dwight Zook.

First place winners in the market swine classes were: Lightweight, Valerie Hunter; Medium lightweight, Greg Stricker; Heavy lightweight, Henry Seidel; Light mediumweight, Greg Zook; Medium mediumweight, Steve Rohrbach; Heavy mediumweight, Mark Price; Light heavyweight, Mark Price; Medium heavyweight, Todd Rabenold; and Heavy heavyweight, Kenianne Rarick. Grand champion was Todd Rabenold, and reserve champion went to Mark Price.

Amor, Margoat Farms dominate goat show

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Staff Correspondent

READING — The Reading Fair's 1983 Goat Show was dominated by the goat farms of Amor Dairy Goats, owned by Lorraine and Cheryl Eshbach, R1 Kempton, and Margoat Dairy Farm, owned by Margaret and Alice Schoenly, R2 Barto.

Owner of the "Best Doe in the Show," Cheryl Eshbach, who attends Arizona State University, was not at the fair but this did not deter her goats, however, as they were shown by her mother, Lorraine, and friend Mike Koehler to the championships in four breeds and also to the "Best Udder" and the "Best Doe."

The "Best Doe," "Breena" was bred by Cheryl on the farm of her parents, Clarence and Lorraine. According to Koehler, Cheryl plans to increase her herd and show them at all the eastern fairs starting in May and ending with a show in Bloomsburg.

Taking the grand championship in showmanship, Margaret Schoenly, R2 Barto, demonstrated her superior skills in showing as she took the grand championship in the Saanens Breed, too. Showing her animals for seven years, 17-year-old Margaret and her sister, Alice, raise their goats on their parents all-purpose farm with several cows, pigs and veal calves.

Margaret won in Showmanship with her goat, "Trouble" who she says gets very upset when other people show her. Explaining that all her goats are like that, Margaret did admit that it made her look better in the show ring.

The 4-H senior showmanship winners were Margaret Schoenly, James Heffner and Kirk Fisher. Senior fitters were Kirk Fisher, Margaret Schoenly and James Heffner.

Intermediate showmanship honors went to Mark Price, Heath Fisher and Glenn Heffner. Kent Fisher, Mark Price and Heath Fisher were named intermediate fitters.

Junior showmanship and fitting honors went to Alice Schoenly, whole Joyce Heffner took second in both classes.

Grand champion showman was Margaret Schoenly, and Mark Price was reserve showman. Kirk Fisher was named the champion fitter and Kent Fisher the reserve winner.

Breed Show winners were:

Sheep sale hits high mark

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Staff Correspondent

READING — Members of the Berks County 4-H Sheep and Lamb Club and their parents and leaders were ecstatic. This marked the first year that they changed the site of their annual market lamb sale to coincide with the Reading Fair, held this past week.

Everyone had been worried that the buyers would not follow them to the fair, but after the sale with the average price on 38 lambs ending at an all time high of $1.15 per pound, they were all congratulating themselves on the move.

The first lamb into the ring was 109 pound grand champion market lamb show by Fred Bube, R1 Robesonia. When the bidding stopped and the dust settled on the many buyers nodding for this champion, spectators and sheep breeders applauded the final bid of $7.50 per pound.

Winner of the first round of bidding was Muthards Meat Market, Temple, with the contender representing Weavers Farm Market. Receiving over $800 for his prize lamb, Fred Bube was proud of this record-breaking bid.

The comment, "if only the price holds up," was forgotten as the reserve grand champion shown by Marianne Yanos, R2 Douglassville, was sold for $3.30 per pound on the final bid of the Farm Bureau of Souderton. Next into the ring came the grand champion pair exhibited by Gwen Perry. Totaling a combined weight of 207 pounds, the pair sold for $1.55 per pound to the Lebanon Valley National Bank, Schaefferstown.

"There are all fabulous prices compared to last year," Mrs. Eshelman, the sale clerk, said as six more lambs went over $1.00 a pound and a total of 26 lambs brought more than 80 cents a pound for their young owners.

Last year's sale, held at a local auction, averaged 72 cents on 41 animals with the high lamb going for $2.60 a pound. This was the first year the sale was scheduled in conjunction with the Reading Fair Sheep show and Market Lamb show, with the sale being held the last day of the fair.

Taking the lead from Lehigh County where 4-H members had good success with this type of arrangement, the Berks County Sheep and Lamb Club was looking for something that would be easier for the youths. More simple because they could combine their annual roundup with the fair show and would not need another show. The parents and leaders also wanted to help promote their product at the fair and give businessmen and the public a chance to buy lambs for butchering.

The Berks County Sheep club members arranged to have trucking, free of charge, to their buyers' markets. A buyback for businesses who did not want to keep their lambs was also arranged with the business responsible for paying the balance to the 4-H club.

"The kids worked hard," said Susan Eshelman, clerk and mother of one of the members. Stating that everyone was worried for weeks about this change of sites, she was relieved with the huge success of the sale. "We surpassed last year That's all I care," she said.

"I think it was really great," said Marianne Yanos, president of the sheep club when she thanked the buyers, the leaders, and all the parents who helped to make the sale such a success.

John H. Fry, Ephrata, auctioneer with H.H Leid Auction Service, donated his services as auctioneer for the youths as 36 area businesses and private individuals competed for the lambs A free lamb barbeque, courtesy of the Sheep Club was available to anyone attending the sale.

After concluding the sale with the 4-H pledge by the Sheep Club members, Marianne said, "next year, it can be the second annual "

Top selling lamb owned by Fred Bube, R1 Robesonia, broke all records as the 109 pounder sold for $7.50 a pound on the final bid of Muthards Meat Market, Temple, at the Market Lamb Sale at the Reading Fairgrounds, Saturday.

Dairy showmen, fitters awarded

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Staff Correspondent

READING — The Showing and Fitting Contest of the 1983 Reading Fair Dairy Show featured two first time winners.

Taking the top honor of grand champion showman was Kevin Sattazahn, R1 Womelsdorf. Noting this was the first time he was chosen grand champion, Kevin said that his Holstein, "Ann," always leads better at this fair. The 20-year-old showman was also awarded a show halter donated by Atlantic Breeders Cooperative.

Grand champion fitter went to Scott Troutman, R1 Myerstown, who said he was surprised that he was selected as the best fitter since he had always been successful in garnering the top awards in showmanship.

"He, (the judge) commented that she was clipped up real nice, especially the udder," Scott said.

Judging the event was N. Allen Bair, Columbia, who is the Member Relations man for Atlantic Breeders Cooperative Particularly critical on those that overshowed their animals, he stressed proper show clothes, control of the animal and a good clip job.

Reserve honors in Showmanship went to Steve Rohrbach, Shoemakersville. Becky Snyder, R1, Oley, was selected as the Reserve Champion Fitter.

Other class winners were as follows:

Ages 15 and over Showmanship - Kevin Sattazahn, Clark Sattazahn and Susan Troutman; Fitting - Scott Troutman, William Lesher and Jay Bicksler

Ages 12 to 14: Showmanship - Steve Rohrbach, Susan Hollenbach and Doris Stump; Fitting - Tracey Schlappich, Tamara Miller and Gary Bicksler

- Automatic tensioner for feed-carrying belt maintains reliable operation.
- Mounts on concrete or wooden feed bunks quickly to save installation time and money.
- End loading can minimize conveyor investment.
- Allows economical feeder expansion at any time in the future.

Learn more about how the Patz Belt Feeder is designed for your needs. Contact your local Patz Dealer. Or, write to the Patz Company, Pound, Wisconsin 54161. Phone (414) 897-2251.

"Affordable automatic feeding with Patz dependability."

Patz

Pound, Wisconsin 54161

The Patz Belt Feeder moves feed fast in one direction while an innovative plow automatically distributes feed uniformly in the feed bunk.

"The simplicity in design that produces reliable performance."

One motor powers both the feeder belt and the plow without need for a reversing motor.

Plow reverses at each end of feeder automatically and smoothly with dependable continuous-loop drive cable.

Brockett's Ag Advice

By John E. Brockett
Farm Management Agent
Lewistown Extension Office

What Do You Know?

Sometime ago a friend of mine who occasionally monitors my column said "sometimes you get too technical - it makes it hard to understand what you are saying". I had to agree that I do tend to think that people understand more than they do. This is a tendency all of us have - including you. For example, if you are a dairyman, you know that milk is a good tasting, healthful food. You find it difficult to understand why the consumer doesn't see it the same way.

In this column, I would like to explain or define some terms used in the area of estate planning. Have you often wondered what estate planning meant or transfer, annuity, by-pass trust, survivor rights, etc. meant. Well let's give it a try at putting some meaning behind the words.

Estate Planning

We'll start with the big word first. Let's relate it to you deciding where you will plant corn, how much you will plant, how much and what kind of fertilizer you will use, what variety you will use, and how you will pay for it.

1. Where will you plant it - where do you want your property (everything you own) to go now and after you die. This may change from time to time just as the fields where you plant corn change.

2. How much will you plant - this depends on available land, available storage, labor supply, and your needs for livestock feed or to fulfill contracts. The same is true for estate planning. You need to plan how things should be done in relation to what you own, how you own it, and who are your heirs.

3. How much and what kind of fertilizer or pesticide should be used? You may use a soil test, a crop record to determine weed pests from the past, the seat of your pants, or the recommendations of a salesman. Estate planning has its tools - a trust may be used if your children are young, if you have to support someone after you are gone, of if your "soil test" calls for it. You may use a will if someone has sold the idea to you. You may buy insurance strictly on a salesman's recommendation.

4. What variety - as with the above question, you may select this on past performance (records), specialists suggestions, or a salesman's recommendations. What goes into a trust or will can be selected the same way. You can see what has worked for others, see what may work according to specialists (as with corn you may want to talk to several and get several ideas) or just ask a lawyer to make one up.

5. How will you pay for it - what does it cost? Not planning for this when planning your corn crop program is as bad as not planning your estate. Planning your estate program includes finding out what it costs to settle an estate, pay the taxes on an estate, write a proper will, and transfer (defined in the next column) property.

Estate planning is nothing more than sitting down and deciding what property (land, buildings, cattle, machinery, bank accounts, etc) you own. Then figure out how it is owned (individually, husband and wife, partnership, etc). Next decide what it is worth. Finally decide what you want to do with it (leave it all to the wife or husband, leave it in equal shares to all children, sell it while still living, give part or all of it away while living, or what).

The Dairy Business

By Newton Bair

FARMING IS EXPENSIVE

This might be a good time to recall some of the familiar cliche's like "farming is an expensive hobby", "it takes money to make money", or "I'd love to farm but I can't afford the luxury". Anyway, I often wonder just why farmers are willing to invest several hundred thousand dollars in a business that may only return a very low rate of return on their investment?

The answer of course is that they just plain love farming. It's in the blood-theres no better way to raise a family, can't stand city life, or a long family tradition must be continued. Dozens of answers can be found, including the chance of making money. More likely they mean 'making a living', and that's the real and ultimate reason for farming.

Farming is expensive everywhere. In July, we visited a working dairy farm in Burgholzhausen, near Freidrichsdorf, West Germany. It is a typical family farm, owned and operated by the father-son partnership of Friedrich and Albrecht Wien. They have a small herd of German Red Friesians totaling 25 milking animals and an equal number of young stock. Most of their buildings are fairly modern, and are insured for a total of $863,000! And that's only the beginning of the story.

Albrecht Wien told us that the land values in that area are greatly inflated in the last 20 years. Their farm land is valued at $22,000 per hectare if for sale.

The farm consists of 56 hectares, or 139 acres-(there are 2.47 acres in one ha). So that would make the farmland worth about $8900 per acre.

Now hold on to your hat! Their machinery investment per U.S. acre is $1123.00! Needless to say, they have a full line of highly specialized modern machines. It includes a self propelled Class Combine, a special sugar beet harvester, several tractors, and all the other equipment needed on a modern farm. So it begins to sound a little familiar to us, doesn't it?

COMPARING NOTES

It is pretty important to compare notes with farmers in other Western Countries in order to understand how we can compete with them in the world markets for farm products. We sometimes think that the United States is the only country that produces a surplus of food products. This is not necessarily so. The free countries of Western Europe all have some grain and lots of dairy products to sell. They face many of the same problems of over production and under pricing that American farmers face. Their costs of production are high, and financial survival is only possible because the Government subsidizes agriculture. It's probably a good thing that it does, or we would have to feed them too, at great cost to us.

Just a few more words about that visit to a German farm. Their herd of Registered Red Friesians are producing about 13,221 pounds of milk and 580 pounds of fat. They also test for protein, and the herd averages 3.5% protein which figures out to 462 pounds per cow. Not great by our standards, but on the other hand we must remember that the German Reds were essentially a dual purpose breed-milk and meat.

However, they are breeding the Red cows to Red Holsteins, using semen imported from Canada and the U.S. We recognized some familiar names like Chief, Kaseman and Triple Threat. Some daughters of the Canadian and U.S. bulls, standing beside their German bred dams, were 6 to 8 inches taller and much sharper. Production of milk is also significantly higher in the cross bred heifers. They are quite aware of the value of high fat test as well as high protein test.

The milk produced by the Wien herd is sold to a nearby U.S. Army post, and must meet rigid standards. They get a premium price, which amounts to about $15.00 per hundredweight.

Surplus bulls from the Cross bred Red Holsteins are in demand from their neighbors. They bring an average price of 3000 D. Marks, about $1200 dollars when sold as breeders. Even though they appear a bit more beefy than our bulls, they will go a long way toward improving the milk production of German herds.

If there is one thing to be learned from our visit to this German dairy farm, it is that they face many of the same problems as American farmers, and are struggling with high production costs, sluggish markets, and the same vagaries of weather that we do. They respect and recognize the superior genetics of American cattle, and still look to us for leadership in many aspects of agriculture. But we should also be aware that they often surpass us in per acre yields of grain and other crops. Yields of 100 bushels of wheat are not uncommon in Germany, largely because they are not restricted in the use of new fungicides, growth regulators and high Nitrogen fertilization. Can you imagine what would happen if you applied 150 pounds of N plus several tons of fresh manure per acre on your wheat fields! Flatter than a pancake, no doubt!

NY announces fall schedule of feeder calf sales

PERRY, N.Y. — The fall schedule of feeder calf sales has been announced by the New York Beef Cattlemen's Association.

The sale schedule begins Nov. 5 with sales at opposite ends of the state. The Southwestern Division Sale will be at Angelica and the Eastern Division. Sale at Chatham. About 600 head are expected at the Angelica sale according to sale chairman James Ford, Angelica. The Chatham Sale is expected to have about 300 head consigned according to sale secretary Claire Barra, Catskill.

A sale for preconditioned calves only will be featured by the Central Division Nov. 11 at Dryden. Sale chairman Ken Swan of Whitney Point said a minimum number of consignments has been established in order to have this specialized sale.

Such preconditioned calves eligible for the Nov. 11 sale must have been weaned 30 days prior to the date and fed roughage in a bunklike feeder and watered from a mechanical source at least 30 days prior to the sale. Certificates of vaccination for IBR, PL3, and Pasturella not less than 21 days or more than 30 days prior to the sale are required to meet preconditioning guidelines.

Preconditioned calves are often more acceptable to feedlot buyers and often command a higher price than "green calves". While preconditioned calves will be accepted and given special identification at all the Cattlemen's Association sponsored sales, the Dryden Sale, Nov. 11, is designed especially for preconditioned calves as a means of attracting volume buyers.

The Southern Tier Division Sale will be Nov. 12 at Bath and 500 head are expected according to Al Cisco, Lindley, sale chairman.

The Western Division Sale Nov 19 at Caledonia will feature 550 consignments according to William Frost, Holcomb, sale chairman.

A final Wind-up Sale Dec. 10 has been scheduled at Dryden to meet the marketing needs of those cattlemen who were unable to wean their calves early. Information about this sale may be obtained from Ken Swan, Whitney Point.

The feeder calf sales are a major marketing emphasis of the New York Beef Cattlemen's Association and are held across the state to encourage greater consignor and buyer participation.

Further information and a complete sale schedule may be obtained from New York Beef Cattlemen's Association executive secretary Robert Good, 7606 Butler Rd. RD1, Perry, N.Y 14530

Oats can provide green chop feed

LANCASTER — August planted spring oats provide succulent green chop after the summer and fall crops are gone. In Pennsylvania cows can be kept on oats green feed to the end of November and into December.

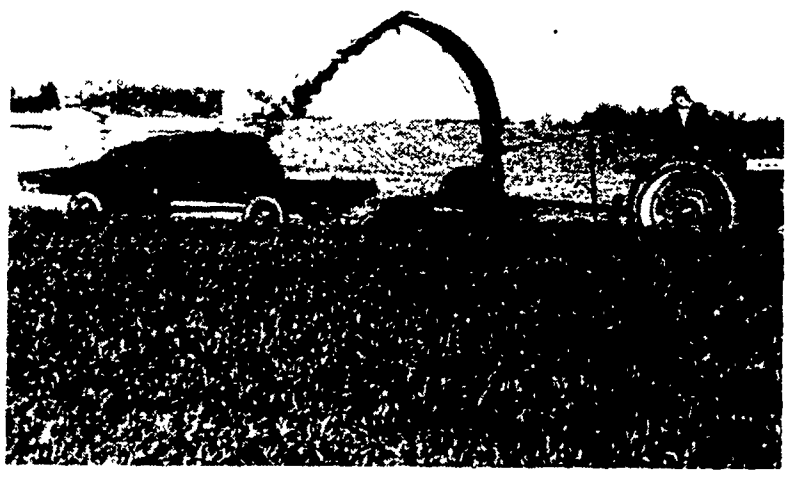
Many dairymen gave up green chop when herd expansion led to large silo capacity and automatic feeders. But there's still a place for fresh green feed, some say. It's a practical way to get more milk from expensive land when you get extra late fall feed from land that otherwise just sits there waiting till next year.

The green oats support high production, too. One Pennsylvania dairyman reports his 26-cow herd increased milk output by 200 lbs. a day when he moved his crop chopper from fourth cutting alfalfa to the green oats in October. The oats were seeded at 3-4 bushels an acre in early August. A rain several weeks later germinated the oats and got the crop growing. But because of the dry weather, the crop was shorter than in the summer before when the oats grew nearly two feet tall and blossomed by October.

Late fall and early winter green feed chopping isn't quite the same as July green feed. In July, you try to feed within an hour or two after chopping to avoid the spontaneous heating you get in hot weather.

In November and December, the green chop stays cooler and there's more chance the weather may interfere with daily chopping. Wind can be a problem, too. So it's a good idea to keep a load or two ahead if snow is forecast. You try to chop during a calm period to minimize wind loss in blustery November and December weather.

Dairymen who do it say it's worthwhile. By stretching out the green feed season right into winter they save their hay for later and avoid the need for an extra silo.



Summer seeded oats can be chopped right up until the snow starts flying.
